21. The fluctuations in the Gold Standard Reserve have resulted in an increase in the holding of securities from £25,406,000 to £28,452,000. A great part of this increase is due to the accumulation of interest on securities held in this Reserve, for as a consequence of the advance in the price of silver this Reserve did not derive any large accretion through the coinage of rupees in the second half of the year. Actually the amount transferred to this Reserve as such profit amounted to £1,117,000. Details of the balance in this Reserve and of the securities held therein will be found in Statement XXIII.

V.—The Presidency Banks and Money conditions in India.

22. Conditions in the money market during the year under report exhibited many novel features which it is necessary to describe in some detail. I have already referred to the continued heavy expenditure by Government on services and purchases of all kinds connected with the war and to the demand for the finance of exports of national importance. To meet disbursements from Treasury balances the Government was practically continuously throughout the twelve months in the market as borrower. In the opening months of the year the proceeds of the War Loan amounting to Rs. 45 crores were available for these purposes: in October on the exhaustion of these funds the Government came out as borrowers for six, nine and twelve months' money and a few weeks later in January for three months' money. In all including the sales of Cash Certificates and a loan of 4 crores from the Bank of Bombay the borrowings of Government in India throughout the year amounted to Rs. 93 crores. The significance of this latter figure will be appreciated if it is contrasted with the total Rupee debt of the Government of India which stood on the 31st March 1914 at Rs. 145½ crores.

Yet, notwithstanding these large borrowings by the State, and despite an active internal demand for money (as illustrated by the Clearing house figures and the figures of movements of funds through currency transfers) there was at no time any recurrence of that acute stringency which has been an almost regular feature of Indian money conditions at certain periods of an active trade year. On the contrary there were surprisingly few fluctuations in the discount rates of the three Presidency Banks, and such fluctuations as did occur were within very small margins. The Bank rates at Calcutta and Bombay were only twice altered in the twelve months and at no time exceeded six per cent. I can here only indicate very briefly some of the main causes to which perhaps are to be attributed these new features in Indian money conditions. As was explained in paragraph 26 of the Finance Member's speech introducing the Financial Statement for 1918-19 the policy of Government has throughout been to protect the market against any stringency by leaving with the Presidency Banks as long as possible the proceeds of its borrowings so that these could be made available to trade and commerce until they were actually required for Government disbursements. There was thus generally speaking no considerable withdrawal from the money market of funds to be locked up in the Reserve Treasuries; and, on the other hand, the character of much of the Government's war expenditure was such that sums disbursed by it when it was necessary to draw for this purpose on the Government balances with the Presidency Banks, rapidly returned to the market. Further, while the market was thus protected, against stringency, the sale of Treasury Bills of varying short maturities tended, through the opportunity thus offered for the employment of sums temporarily not required for trade purposes, to prevent any temporary re-action in an opposite direction. Finally, the exigencies of war finance have brought about the existence of the closest and most cordial relations between the Government and the Presidency Banks; and the resulting co-operation has, as would be expected, been reflected in more stabilised conditions in the money market.

23. The following table gives the usual statistics of the Government balances at each of the three Presidency Banks on the last day of each month of the last two years, and I have added to this statement a column to show the statistics of the balances in Reserve Treasuries on the same dates:—

Conditions in 1917-18 were so entirely different from those prevailing in the preceding year that no useful purpose would be served by elaborating the contrast, and I pass to a brief sketch of the principal factors affecting the figures for 1917-18. The high Government balances at the Banks' Head offices in the first four months of this latter year resulted from the operations of the War Loan. In pursuance of the policy referred to above, these were maintained at as high a figure as possible until the end of June, when the close of the busy season permitted their transfer to the Reserve Treasuries. Similarly, when in the autumn the trade demand resumed its activity, the Government balances at Head offices were allowed to accumulate again through the proceeds of sales of Treasury Bills. The figures for the Government balances at Branches of the Presidency Banks do not, of course, possess the same significance, since the Government balances retained thereat are ordinarily restricted to the sums required for the transactions of the treasuries which the Presidency Banks manage on behalf of Government. That these should have stood at a higher figure than usual is to be explained partly by the fact that they were swollen in the first six months of the year by the proceeds of the War Loan and partly by the necessity of strengthening them to meet the larger disbursements entailed by the war. This latter factor has also been operative at Government treasuries many of which have needed to strengthen their balances to meet possible demands on them for military payments. It has, in fact, been found that the standard balances adopted to meet peace requirements are generally inadequate to meet the additional demands caused by the war.

Cash balances of Presidency Banks.

The variations in the cash balances of the Presidency Banks have been so marked as to call for some detailed comment. On the 1st April 1917 the aggregate cash balances were 21,78 lakhs; and they fell by the end of that month to 20,94 lakhs, mainly through the withdrawal of over 2 crores from the Bank of Bombay in connection with the Broach settlement. From May until October, however, there was a continuous growth in the cash balances of the three Presidency Banks and these were at their highest in the first week of November when they totalled no less than 48½ crores. The percentage figures of cash to liabilities in this period were strikingly high. In the last week of September the Bank of Bengal returned a percentage of 50; the Bank of Bombay 71; the Bank of Madras 48. An important factor in the increase in the cash balances of the Presidency Banks was the accretion to the resources of the Exchange Banks. Various causes, some common to all Banks, others more peculiar to the Exchange Banks, account for the addition to the large balances of these Banks. The substantial profits which have been made by most Indian industries in the opportunities created by the war have naturally been reflected in the increased local deposits of the Exchange Banks as in the deposits of other Banks: but the most important immediate factor in the increase to the resources of the Exchange Banks is to be sought in the large imports of gold between the months of July and November. I have already referred to these imports and I need only here describe in very general terms the effect of these imports on the banking resources of the year. Gold so imported passed, as already explained, into the possession of Government who acquired it by the release from the Paper Currency of the value of such imports in notes, these latter being paid into the Presidency Banks, who were charged with the payment to the importer of the value of the gold acquired. In a very large number of cases the sums so placed to the importer's credit at the Presidency Bank were not immediately employed, being in fact funds laid down in anticipation of requirements in the export season. The accumulation of cash with the Presidency Banks in this way during the months July to October accounts for part, at any rate, of the large and rapid increase in the Presidency Banks' cash reserves to which I have referred, while the large and rapid decrease of the latter in the second half of the year is to be explained by the withdrawals of these accumulations.

Bank rate.

25. The year opened with a bank rate of 6 per cent. in Calcutta and Bombay; and of 8 per cent. in Madras. The conditions in Bombay in the first month of the year were such as always accompany the financing of the cotton crop and the Broach settlement, though a special additional factor was the withdrawal of money for investment in War Loan. With its large Government balance, however, the Bank of Bombay was able to render substantial help and soon after the Broach settlement conditions became markedly easier. In Calcutta the demand for accommodation for the jute crop was far below normal. A low price, combined with ample funds of their own, enabled the jute mills to reduce their demand on the Bank of Bengal; and on the 6th September the Bank of Bengal's rate was reduced to 5 per cent., the Bank of Bombay having already brought down its rate on the 23rd August to the same figure. Meanwhile, the Bank of Madras had already reduced its rate to 7 per cent, and on the 3rd September further lowered it to 6 per cent. No change occurred in these rates until the first week of December when the Bank of Bombay's rate was raised to 6 per cent: the Bank of Bengal followed suit on the 3rd January; while shortly after the Bank of Madras raised its rate to 7. At these levels the bank rates remained for the remaining months of the year, a steady demand being observable in Calcutta while at Bombay with the approach of the Broach settlement in April 1918, and record and advancing prices being almost daily registered for cotton, the withdrawals from the Bank of Bombay were continuous and at times considerable. In December the Bank's cash balances fell by 6,85 lakhs, in January by 2,25 lakhs, in February by 1,20 lakhs, and in March by 3,90 lakhs.

26. The contrast between the conditions of the year under report and those of its predecessor is strikingly illustrated by the following table which shows for each of the two years the maximum and the minimum rates of each of the three Presidency Banks and the number of changes in the rate:—

Presidency Bank	Maximum		Minimum		Number of changes in the bank rate.

Bank of Bengal	8	6	5	5	8	2
Bank of Bombay	8	6	4	5	10	2
Bank of Madras	8	5	6	6	4	3

27. The movements of funds through Currency will appear from the following statement which shows the issue of Currency Transfers for each month of the year in each circle. As usual, supplies of money for up-country purposes were drawn chiefly from Bombay, the transactions in Calcutta showing a small decline. The Karachi circle shows a further advance. Both Bombay and Karachi were heavily drawn on from Northern India during the wheat export months.

(b) Through Treasury and Currency.

As will be seen from Statements IV and V the total movement of funds through Government agency, i.e., through Treasuries as well as through Currency amounted to close on 65 crores. Statement IV shows the movement between Provinces: this amounted to 39.20 crores. The transactions within the Provinces are shown in Statement V and amounted to 25.27 crores.

Clearing House Figures.

28. I have referred above to the record of Clearing House figures as indicative of trade and business activity. The following statement gives for the last four official years the usual record for each centre of the value of the transactions through the Clearing House:—

(In lakhs of rupees.)

Year.	Calcutta.	Bombay.	Madras.	Karachi.	Rangoon.	Total.
1914-15	2,66,95	1,57,83	18,81	11,02	43,12	4,98,53
1915-16	3,52,36	1,77,18	20,21	14,09	39,50	6,03,34
1916-17	4,92,59	2,62,28	25,29	17,36	50,68	8,48,50
1917-18	5,21,90	3,83,53	23,01	22,17	52,86	10,06,17

The figures for the year 1917-18 show a further advance on those of the previous year which themselves constituted a record, the most noticeable increase being observable in Bombay where the transactions through the Clearing House for the first time exceeded 300 crores. Calcutta still maintains its premier position. In contrasting the figures for 1917-18 with those of previous years, it must be remembered that the former include transactions in connection with the War Loan, payments to which by cheque amounted to 24.21 lakhs.

VI.—Demand for the various forms of Currency.

Absorption or return from circulation of the various forms of currency.

29. The money conditions of the year are reflected in the demands for currency. The table below shows the nature of the additions made to the circulating media during the year and in each of the preceding five years.

notes. The usual statistical details regarding the note circulation are given in a subsequent section; but the monthly figures are here given, concurrently with those relating to the absorption and return of rupees to illustrate the extent to which seasonal demands cause an interchange between these two circulating media. In June, July and August there was the usual re-flow of metallic currency, though on a somewhat smaller scale than might have been expected from the enormous disbursement of rupees in the previous 15 months. Excluding these three months the remaining nine months show an average monthly absorption of 4 crores a month. The large absorption in the first month of the year is, of course, due to the requirements for cotton in Bombay and the beginnings of the demand for wheat in Northern India. With the issue of gold and the cessation of the cotton demand in Bombay, the absorption of silver in May fell to Rs. 2,27 lakhs. The demand for rupees between July and October is largely determined by the requirements for jute. These were on a smaller scale than usual and absorbed only Rs. 1½ crores as against Rs. 11½ crores in the previous year. The limitation of exports of jute, the consequent fall in prices, the larger stocks held by the mills placed purchasers of this staple at an advantage in their dealings with sellers. Purchases were spread over a longer period, were paid for at rates which purchasers could largely dictate, and the currency required was also largely determined by the seller's need to find a market. It is of interest to note in this connection that through the co-operation of the large purchasing firms an increased use of paper currency was possible in the purchase of jute, the 5-rupee note being utilised to a larger extent than in previous years. In the autumn the demand for metallic currency did not set in as early as usual and it was not until November that any serious inroads were made on the silver balances. From that month onwards the high prices of cotton and an increasing demand for food-stuffs grown in Northern India combined to cause a very serious withdrawal of rupees, and in the two closing months of the calendar year Rs. 13 crores were absorbed. There was some slight reaction in January, February and March, the total absorption in these three months amounting to Rs. 12½ crores, cotton again, and to some extent rice in Burma, being the chief causes thereof.

Taking the absorption by circles, the heaviest absorption was in the Bombay and Karachi circles where 13,13 lakhs were absorbed, the Lahore circle following with an absorption of 11,96 lakhs. Since August 1914 the Bombay circle has taken Rs. 26½ crores in silver, the Lahore circle 25½ crores, while the Calcutta circle shows a net return in the same period of 4 crores. The extent to which metallic currency has been poured into Northern India can be measured by the absorption of Rs. 41.88 crores of silver and gold issued in the Punjab and the United Provinces in the last three years. Purchases of wheat, gram, barley, and other food-stuffs, payments to the troops and to the frontier militia, all of which must necessarily be made in metal, account for this large absorption. On the other hand, as regards the absorption in Bombay, this circle, it must be remembered, includes the chief Indian bullion market, and the reduction in imports of gold and silver and, still more recently, the prohibition on the imports of precious metals have naturally created a tendency for that circle to absorb a larger share than other circles of the metallic issues from Currency and to attract the silver and gold issued in other parts of India.

32. The rupee coinage of the year amounted to 23,12 lakhs, while the net reduction in the rupee balances in treasuries and in Currency was 6,36 lakhs.

Deducting the rupees shown in the trade accounts as having been exported by sea from India, the actual number of rupees added in the year to the circulation in the hands of the public was thus 27,86 lakhs. Compared with 1916-17, when the absorption was 33,81 lakhs, the absorption in 1917-18 was on a somewhat smaller scale. It will be of interest to note here that between the 1st August 1914 and 31st March 1918 the number of rupees passed into circulation was 78,98 lakhs, representing just over 270 million ounces of fine silver. The total world production in the four years 1914 to 1917 has been estimated at 650 million ounces, so that Indian coin requirements in the 44 months in question alone represent more than 41 per cent of the estimated world production in those four years. To the coin requirements must be added the net imports of silver on private account which in the same period have amounted to 128 million ounces, bringing the total quantity of silver absorbed in India between the dates mentioned to 398 million ounces.

This last factor, namely, the requirement of silver for industries and arts, must, I think, have played some part in determining the demand for coined silver, for it will be observed from the statement in paragraph 2 that the imports of silver for purposes other than coinage have, as a result of conditions created by the war, been on a diminishing scale, and it is probably the case that, in order to fill the void thus created in the supplies of silver available for such purposes as ornaments, some portion of the silver metallic currency in the hands of the public has been, and is still being, diverted to this purpose. There is, as a matter of fact, evidence from other sources that silver rupees have been melted down into bars for use in the arts. But though these requirements may to some extent explain the ultimate destination of some portion of the silver coin in circulation, the main causes accounting for the demand for metallic currency are of course quite different.

The flow of metallic money from the ports and commercial centres to the country side is, as is generally known, determined by the seasonal and crop conditions. Those have in the last two years been exceptionally favourable. Prices of Indian produce have also been protected by the absence of competition from other parts of the world, and in regard to a very large proportion of Indian produce the requirements of foreign countries have been of such an urgent character as to make the question of cost subordinate. The volume of metallic currency required to induce the Indian producer to part with his produce has therefore in the last two years been necessarily great. In normal times metallic currency thus released in the purchase of Indian produce returns to the commercial centres and the ports in payment of manufactured goods required by the producer. But, as has been observed in previous reports, imports of foreign manufactures have shrunk considerably, while the rise in the price of raw materials, higher freights, and increased costs of production have combined to bring about a very much higher range of prices, which the Indian consumer has not been able or has been unwilling to pay. Further, the congestion of traffic on railways has also affected the despatch of imported goods from the ports to the inland central marts, and their ultimate distribution from these marts among the countryside. The natural solvent then which serves in normal times to create a re-flow of metallic currency to the ports and commercial centres has only been partially operative. It must also be remembered that over a large part of the country, and certainly by the bulk of the agricultural population, the rupee is still regarded primarily as a store of value; and where such is the principal function of a metallic currency, any appreciation in the value of the metal must necessarily tend to accentuate the withdrawal from circulation of a considerable portion of the currency. The agriculturist's insistence on being paid in metal for the product of his labours is not entirely unreasonable. These payments represent his capital and wealth, and when stored in the form of metal, such capital is protected against deterioration from climatic and other causes. This factor is often overlooked when it is sought to make a contrast between India and other Eastern countries where paper currency has replaced metallic currency as, for instance, in the Straits and latterly to some extent in Ceylon. The requirements of metallic currency in these countries are limited to the amounts necessary for the payment of wages to labour, mostly not indigenous labour, whose savings are almost immediately remitted to their home land; and, save in regard to disbursements connected with the up-keep and maintenance of estates, the finance required can in such conditions be effected through other media of currency. Doubtless an extension of banking facilities combined with a more complete understanding of the functions of currency will tend to diminish the Indian agriculturist's present preference for payment in metal and will lead him to apply metallic currency to a less infructuous purpose than that of a store of value. As it is, the development of the paper currency which will be described at greater length in a subsequent paragraph, has on the whole been eminently satisfactory and affords direct evidence of the results which may be expected from the universal provision of facilities which will demonstrate in a practical and tangible way that paper and metallic money are interchangeable.

Absorption of sovereigns and gold.

33. As regards sovereigns, the absorption as shown above amounted to 11,66 lakhs. It can safely be asserted that the whole of this amount went into hoards or the melting pot, and represents no real addition to the circulation. As a matter of fact, the absorption of sovereigns in the year was somewhat larger than is disclosed by the above statement, for the figures there given do not include sovereigns imported and passed into consumption without presentation at a Government office or treasury. In normal times the proportion of such imports to those which are tendered to the Currency Department is not very serious and possesses no special significance. The reduction, however, since the outbreak of war, in private imports of gold, which is largely required for use in connection with the arts, has caused a scarcity value to attach to the sovereign as a commodity and imported sovereigns have consequently not found their way into the currency of the country. Of the 2,000,000 sovereigns imported between August 1914 and March 1917 all but 50,000 passed into consumption immediately on importation. The position has of course been reversed since the promulgation of the Gold (Import) Ordinance of 1917, which brought automatically into the Paper Currency Reserve all gold, whether bullion or coin, imported into this country. This Ordinance was promulgated in June 1917. Prior to that date, however, there had been imported in the first three months of 1917-18 nearly 1½ million sovereigns, namely, 2,62 lakhs which, as just explained, are not included in the 11,66 lakhs shown as having been issued from Currency during the year.

Currency sovereigns were released in the year between April and August 1917 and again in February and March 1918 to relieve the strain on the silver balances. They were issued primarily in connection with the purchase in Northern India of wheat for the Royal Commission, though both in April 1917 and in February and March 1918, issues were also made in certain districts of Madras and certain of the cotton-growing districts of Bombay.

The inset table gives the detailed absorption in each month in which Currency gold was issued. Of the total of 11,66 lakhs of Currency gold issued 8,74 lakhs were issued in the Punjab and the United Provinces and 2,37 lakhs in Bombay. It may be taken for granted that only a relatively insignificant amount of the sovereigns issued in Northern India remained in the Punjab and the United Provinces, the bulk probably finding their way very shortly after issue to Bombay, and, to a lesser extent, to Calcutta, where they were mostly turned into jewellery. The very marked increase in the numbers of private assays of gold conducted at the Calcutta and the Bombay Assay Offices is sufficient indication of the fate of these sovereigns, and latterly more direct and circumstantial evidence has become available as to the extent to which gold coin has been melted. The melting of gold as also silver coin was declared on the 29th June 1917 to be an offence under the Defence of India Rules.

Though it is unfortunately too true that all but an insignificant portion of the sovereigns thus issued eventually found their way into the melting pot or into private hoards, it must not therefore be assumed that they failed entirely to achieve the purpose which their issue was intended to secure. Qua currency doubtless these sovereigns had a limited function : but they undoubtedly operated as such when paid out initially by the wheat purchasing firms to their sellers or agents, though subsequently they admittedly passed from hand to hand as commodities. It is true that only in rare cases did these sovereigns reach the actual producer with whom the wheat purchasing firms are unable to get into touch save in a very few localities. Where, as in one of the cotton-growing districts of Bombay, special measures were taken to secure the direct payment of sovereigns to the producer, it was found that the sovereigns thus paid out were immediately sold for silver. On the other hand, there is little doubt that the issue of these gold coins did for the time being relieve the strain on the silver balances. At the time when it was decided to make these issues of sovereigns the silver balances in the Currency were extremely low, and it was at least doubtful whether they could stand the strain of the further large demands for silver currency required for the purchase of wheat to the order of the Royal Commission. Actually, I may observe, in the Punjab side by side with the issue of sovereigns there was a return of silver. This coincidence is probably in part explainable as being due to other causes, and further experience will be necessary before any definite conclusions can be drawn ; but I may note here that between the middle of May when sovereigns were first issued and the end of August when these issues were closed there was a return of silver. The issue of sovereigns from April 1917 rendered it possible to maintain the silver balances at a sufficient level to meet all ordinary requirements until with the termination of the busy season the demand for silver fell away and the usual return of silver set in.

34. The price of sovereigns during the year fluctuated between a minimum of Rs. 15-3-3 and a maximum of Rs. 18-4-0, the fluctuations, as might be expected, being directly traceable to the release of sovereigns from Currency. In April 1917 the highest price touched by the sovereign was Rs. 15-15-3, the lowest Rs. 15-8. With the release of Currency sovereigns the price gradually fell away till the lowest point, namely, Rs. 15-3-3, was touched in June. The price rose again in August, when issues from Currency were again stopped, to Rs. 16-4, in November to Rs. 17-2, in January to Rs. 18 0 and in February to Rs. 18-4. The release in March of further sovereigns from Currency brought about a relapse in prices, and the year closed with the sovereign at Rs. 16-7. The price of sovereigns.

VII.—The Note Circulation.

35. Statements XI to XX contain the usual statistics regarding the currency note circulation. The table below compares the gross, net and active circulation on the 31st March, and also the average for the year in each case with the corresponding figures for certain previous years. Statistics of the note circulation.

The figures for the net circulation exclude the value of the notes held in the Reserve Treasuries. Those for the active circulation further exclude the value of notes in all other Government treasuries and also of notes held in the Head offices of the Presidency Banks.

The gross circulation exceeded the 100 crore mark for the first time in August 1917, and remained well above that mark until March, the highest figure, namely 114.77 crores, being recorded in October. Of the gross circulation the amounts held in the Reserve and District Treasuries depend primarily on the resource operations of Government, and the variations in the amounts

* These figures represent 5 years' increase so held from time to time have no special significance in the present connection. The variations in the note holdings of the Presidency Banks at their head offices may be said to reflect the fluctuations in the money market and the large increase which Statement XV discloses in these holdings, the average of which has more than doubled in the year to 21,77 lakhs, is to be referred to the causes discussed in section V. As has been explained in previous reports the figures for the average active circulation probably form the best criterion of the extent to which currency notes actually circulate among the public. The development of the active circulation which was observed in the last two reports has been maintained. At the close of the year it was 84½ crores and exceeded by over 17 crores the figure recorded on the same date in 1916-17. The average value for the year was nearly 72 crores, that is to say, 12½ crores more than the average of the preceding year. The active circulation was at its highest in March, and at its lowest in June when it fell to 62,27 lakhs.

Passing now to the distribution of the note circulation according to circles, all circles show substantial increases, but the largest increase in the gross circulation is recorded in the Bombay circle, which, with an average gross circulation of 36.85 crores, is now ahead of the Calcutta circle, where the average gross circulation has increased from 28.45 lakhs to 33.89 lakhs. The increase in the gross circulation in Bombay, as also the increase in that of the Karachi circle, is to some extent accounted for by the fact that the note requirements of Mesopotamia are largely supplied from these two circles. Actually there were shipped during the year to Basra 4.42 lakhs in notes of these two circles. Statistics of the circulation in the occupied territories in Mesopotamia are not available, except as regard the 5-rupee and the 10-rupee notes of which it is estimated that on the 31st December 1917 there were in circulation 1½ crores and 2½ crores respectively.

note circulation.

36. The following statement shows by circles the number of notes of each denomination (excluding the Rs. 10,000 note) in circulation on the 31st December in each of the last three years for each 10,000 of the population:—

	1917 . .	43	290	737	17	86	1.5	4

The increase in circulation observed in the two preceding reports of all the universal notes, i.e., notes of denominations up to and including Rs. 100 has been more than maintained, the most striking advance being in the 5-rupee denomination the circulation of which has in the last two years more than doubled itself. In every circle this denomination shows a material advance, that in the Bombay circle being most marked. In the Punjab this denomination has attained a certain popularity in connection with payments to troops and at post offices. In Calcutta, as has been explained elsewhere, a larger use was made of this denomination in connection with the finance of the jute crop. The 10-rupee note has not apparently maintained its popularity in the Calcutta and Rangoon circles, but elsewhere, more particularly, in the Karachi circle, an appreciable advance was recorded. The 50-rupee note elsewhere than in Karachi, Bombay and Lahore shows little variation as compared with the previous year. The minus figure shown against Madras under this denomination is due to the fact that all notes withdrawn from circulation at agencies are treated as home notes, an adjustment in respect of foreign notes not being made until the notes are eventually received at Madras. There were large remittances from Bombay to certain Madras districts, and the withdrawal of these at the agencies was taken in the first instance in reduction of the balance of Madras notes.

It will be observed that the above statement gives no statistics regarding the Rs. 2-8 notes. This denomination was not put into issue until after the 31st December, and similarly the statistics given above refer only to the circulation of the 1-rupee notes in Calcutta, Bombay and Madras in which three circles alone the 1-rupee note had been put into issue by the 31st December.

On the 31st March there were outstanding Rs. 32½ lakhs of Re. 1 notes and just under Rs. 18 lakhs of Rs. 2-8 notes. The first of these denominations was put into circulation on December 1st, and initially the issue was restricted to the Presidency Banks, though within a very short time the issue from Currency offices was commenced at Calcutta, Bombay and Madras. Subsequently, issues were commenced also at other circles. The size of these notes, and their liability to tear and to soiling have to some extent tended to affect their acceptability by the public. The Rs. 2-8 denomination, which was put into circulation on the 2nd January, has so far achieved little progress, but as regards the Re. 1 notes the shortage of silver towards the end of the official year necessitated a larger use of this small value note, and the first three months of 1918-19 witnessed a large development in the circulation thereof. By the 30th June there were in circulation about 2½ crores of these notes.

37. Statement XX gives the usual information regarding the civil treasuries in the different provinces at which notes are cashed. Save at Indore and at a few treasuries in the Punjab and in the United Provinces, treasuries elsewhere were practically in a position to encash notes generally to the full extent of the public's requirements. The statistics of transactions at treasuries given in the statement which follows, show a material increase in the receipts and issues of notes. Both in the payment of dues to Government, as also in payment of dues by Government, notes are being used to a much larger extent than formerly, a very marked increase in this direction being observable in the statistics of the last three years. Notes tendered at the treasuries for encashment exceeded by Rs. 1,66 lakhs the notes issued by Treasuries against silver tendered by the public; and there was a very small increase in the value of notes tendered by the public for exchange into notes of other values.

The ratio of circulation to cancellation (taken to two places of decimals) is a rough measure of the life of each denomination. There is an increase in the length of the life of each denomination, particularly of the Rs. 5 note. This denomination, as will have been observed, has made a considerable advance in popularity, and re-issues on a large scale were necessary. Generally, re-issues have had to be on a much larger scale than could be desired; but scarcity of paper has led to inadequate supplies of notes coming forward from Home.

No statistics of the life of Re. 1 and Rs. 2-8 notes are as yet available.

VIII.—Miscellaneous matters connected with Currency notes and coinage.

Note-forgeries.

39. There was a large increase during the year in the number of forged notes presented for encashment or received in the Currency offices for examination as to their genuineness or for safe custody, an aggregate of 396 being recorded against 96 and 97 in the two previous years. 123 out of these were forged notes in various stages of completion discovered by the United Provinces police in the course of an enquiry in Meerut. They were the work of a professional forger and his accomplices who had secured a regular printing press with other implements of forgery. The effort was not, however, very successful; the first few notes which it was attempted to pass on to the public, aroused suspicion and led to the discovery of the authors by the police. Of the remaining 273 forgeries, 187 were of the Rs. 5, 66 of the Rs. 10, 18 of the Rs. 100 and 2 of the Rs. 1,000 denomination. As many as 231 of the forgeries appeared in the Calcutta Circle alone.

A considerable number of new forgeries belonging to different series was brought to light during the year. Apart, however, from the important class of forgeries described below, few exhibited any cleverness of execution or were widely circulated. The five rupee note-forgeries of the $\frac{YB}{34}$, $\frac{LC}{60}$ and $\frac{LC}{61}$ series which seem to have originated from the same source, were very successful in imposing on the public. They were apparently printed from metal or wooden blocks, the paper used being of a passable quality with spurious water-marks of a rather faint outline. The printing and the signature were fairly done and altogether the notes were clever imitations. The forgeries of the $\frac{YB}{34}$ series first made their appearance in Calcutta in October 1917, while the variants of the $\frac{LC}{60}$ and $\frac{LC}{61}$ series appeared for the first time in March 1918. No fewer than 159 of the forgeries presented during the year at Calcutta belong to one or other of these three series, while single notes have also been detected in Rangoon, Bombay and Cawnpore. The new forgeries of the Rs. 10 denomination which were represented by a few notes in each of a number of different series, were generally inferior specimens, either handdrawn or lithographed on ordinary paper. The notes of the ^{BD}₁₈ series, several of which appeared at Rangoon, were passable forgeries done by the lithographic process, though the lettering was somewhat uneven. The forged note of the ^{NC}₄₅ series presented at Rangoon was prepared by the old anastatic process. Among the new forgeries of the Rs. 100 denomination, mention may be made of the notes of the ^{NC}₅₆, ^{NC}₅₈, ^{QC}₆₈ series all purporting to be of the Rangoon circle, in illustration of a clever device sometimes employed by forgers. The notes were printed from metal blocks on a genuine 10-Rupce note paper, the original impression thereon having first been completely washed out by some chemical process. Another "0" was added to the water mark figure "10" apparently by pressure from a wooden block.

Altogether four prosecutions were undertaken during the year in connection with forged notes, two in the United Provinces, 1 in Bombay and 1 in Burma. All four resulted in convictions. The heaviest sentences were secured in the Meerut case mentioned above, three of the accused persons being sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for periods ranging from 5 to 10 years on various counts. Prosecutions.

40. The figures below show the number of wholly destroyed, half and mutilated notes, claims in respect of which were admitted during the year 1917-18 and the two preceding years:— Claims on lost notes, etc.

1917-18	38,11	28,53	25,86	6,15	98,65

The total for the year 1917-18 excludes about Rs. 10 lakhs of small coin sent to Basra. The absorption for the year amounted to Rs. 98½ lakhs against 97½ in the previous year.

Receipts and expenditure of the Currency Department.

44. Statement XXII gives the usual details of the receipts and expenditure of the Currency Department for the year 1917-18. The receipts, it will be seen, have nearly doubled and amounted to Rs. 1,82,72,108 the increase in investments accounting for the larger receipts. The expenditure consequent on a larger consumption of note forms increased by Rs. 4,43,888 to 20.88 lakhs.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

M. M. S. GUBBAY,

Controller of Currency.

The 14th December 1918.

* The anomaly of a minus sign is due to the procedure under which foreign circle notes held in currency chests are treated as a minus for the purpose of the currency accounts. The foreign notes of the Rs. 10, 20 and 50 denominations held on the 31st March in the currency chests of the four circles where the minus sign occurs and thus tem, or only withdrawn from circulation exceeded the total of the notes of these denominations in the circles in circulation. The figures for all the circles together of course work up to a correct total.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

RAILWAY DEPARTMENT.

(RAILWAY BOARD.)

*Dated Delhi, the 20th December 1918.RESOLUTION.

Relaxation in favour of the North Western Railway of the rule prohibiting the loading of more than two carbonic acid gas cylinders in any one vehicle.

Owing to the difficulty experienced in dealing with consignments of carbonic acid gas cylinders the Administration of the North Western Railway has asked for the relaxation of the rule prohibiting the loading of more than two such cylinders in any one vehicle. This rule is contained in Schedule I of the rules to regulate the packing and carriage by railway of offensive and dangerous goods which were promulgated with Railway Board's Resolution No. 1025-R. T., dated the 10th June 1912 and published under their Notification No. 71, dated the 13th June 1912, as amended by Railway Board's Resolution No. 1555-T., dated the 5th October 1914 and published under their Notification No. 267, dated the 13th October 1914. The Railway Board are advised that in the circumstances stated, the permission asked for might be given.

2. In exercise of the powers conferred by the Notification of the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 801, dated the 24th March 1905, the Railway Board sanction, under Section 47, Sub-Section (4) of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), the exemption of the North Western Railway from the provisions of the rule referred to above so as to permit of the loading on that railway of six cylinders, instead of two, in any one vehicle with other goods, which are not explosives and not dangerous goods.

Order.—Ordered that this Resolution be published under a notification in Part I of the Gazette of India as required by Section 143 (1) of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), and that a copy thereof be kept open for inspection at railway stations as directed by Sub-Section (2) of the same Section; also that a copy of the Resolution be communicated to the Agent, North Western Railway, the Senior Government Inspector of Railways, Circle No 4, Lahore, the Chief Inspector of Explosives, and the Secretary, Indian Railway Conference Association, for information.

F. A. HADOW,
Secretary, Railway Board.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 14th December 1918.

Burma.—Light rain was general throughout the province in Lower Burma. Reaping of winter rice is becoming general in Upper Burma. Harvesting of groundnut, late sesamum and cotton and cultivation of island crops and spring rice are progressing. Reaping of winter rice has begun. Condition of standing crops is generally good. Health of cattle is generally satisfactory. Price of unhusked rice in Rangoon has fallen further to Rs. 128 but is still above normal. The market for white rice is steady at Rs. 385 per hundred baskets for specials.

Assam.—The weather was seasonable. Harvesting of winter rice, plucking of cotton and pressing of sugarcane are in progress. Rain is wanted for spring crops. Prospects of crops are poor. Cattle disease is reported from three districts. The price of common rice continues to rise.

Bengal.—The week was practically rainless, excepting scanty showers in a few places. Standing crops are suffering from drought. Transplantation of tobacco seedlings is nearing completion. Harvesting of winter paddy and sugarcane continues, and that of kalai has commenced in places. Sowing of spring crops is well advanced. Damage to standing crops by insects is reported from some southern and eastern districts. Fodder is reported to be insufficient in Bankura, Rajshahi, Bogra and Tippera. The average price of common rice rose by about 1·3 per cent.

Bihar and Orissa.—There was no rain during the week except light showers in parts of Balasore, Puri, Hazaribagh and Ranchi. Harvesting of winter paddy and pressing of sugarcane continue. Outturn of rice has been poor in most districts. Sowing of spring crops is in progress but rain is urgently wanted for the growth of the crops which are withering in several districts. In Angul test works are going on at 12 centres. Gratuitous relief was given to 582 persons. The price of common rice has risen in six districts, fallen in four and remained stationary in the remaining districts as compared with that of the preceding week. Cattle disease is reported from nine districts. Reports from the Feudatory States of Orissa and Chota Nagpur have not been received.

United Provinces.—The week was rainless with the exception of light rain in Himalayan districts and Rampur State. Rain is badly needed. Damage to crops for want of rain is general. Insects have slightly damaged the crops in parts of Rae Bareilly and Ballia. Preparation of land for spring crops and poppy and their sowing still continue. Harvesting of autumn crops is nearing completion. Irrigation of spring and extra crops continues. Pressing of sugarcane is going on. Picking of cotton is almost complete. Standing crops are generally fair. Prospects are mostly unfavourable. Agricultural stock is good on the whole but some cattle disease is still reported. Fodder is scarce and dear. Water and market supplies are adequate. Prices are almost stationary with a tendency to rise.

Punjab.—Light rain fell in nearly all the reporting districts except those in the Southeast and was useful for standing crops and spring sowings. More rain is badly wanted everywhere. Picking of cotton, pressing of sugarcane and harvesting of other autumn crops continue. The yield is generally normal on irrigated and much below normal on unirrigated areas. Sowings of wheat and other spring crops are proceeding and are below normal to normal. Standing irrigated crops are average to good and unirrigated crops are much below average. Cattle are generally healthy but fodder is scarce in most districts. Sugarcane is being used as fodder in some districts. Water is generally sufficient. Prices are generally stationary, and above scarcity rates. Prices of wheat:—Ambala 6, Lahore and Lyallpur 6½, Ferozepore and Rawalpindi 6½ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain fell in parts. More rain is greatly needed throughout the province. Sowings of spring crops are in progress in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan but are restricted in Bannu. Prospects of standing crops are average on irrigated and below average on unirrigated areas in Peshawar and Bannu and poor in Dera Ismail Khan owing to drought. Maize and chari are being reaped with average outturn. Prices of wheat:—Peshawar 7½ and Dera Ismail Khan 7½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—It rained in some parts. Prices are stationary.

Kashmir.—Report not received.

Rajputana.—The weather was cold. Spring sowings are late and restricted. Condition of cattle is fair. Scarcity of fodder is general. Water is sufficient. Prices are rising in places.

Central India.—No rain fell during the week. It was insufficient in Gwalior and Bundelkhand. Autumn crops are being harvested and cotton is being picked in Gwalior, Indore and Southern States. Spring crops are being sown in Gwalior and Bundelkhand. Sugarcane is being sown in Malwa. Standing crops have withered in Bundelkhand, are bad in Gwalior except certain districts where they are good and fair elsewhere. Probable outturn is not satisfactory in Gwalior and Bundelkhand, average in Bhopal except ten annas in Bhopal itself, below average in Dhar and Jhabua and fair elsewhere except Jaora and Rutlam. They have been damaged from insufficient rain in Bhopal, Maihar and Kothri. Agricultural stock is bad in Gwalior and fair to good elsewhere except where cattle disease prevails. Scarcity of fodder prevails in Gwalior, Indore, Bundelkhand, parts of Baghelkhand, Malwa and Southern States. Prices are high. Poppy cultivation is in progress in Gwalior and Indore.

Central Provinces.—The weather continues to be cool with occasional clouds. Only Raipur had 15 cents of rain. Reaping, threshing and winnowing of autumn crops and picking of cotton are in progress. Condition of spring crops is generally satisfactory and prospects are favourable except in the case of linseed. Recent rain has considerably benefited them. Additional land is being sown with spring crops in eight districts. Deficiency of fodder and water is reported from parts of Hoshangabad, Betul, Udhindwara and Berar. Cattle are fairing well. In Sironcha Tehsil the number of persons on gratuitous relief has increased while the number on works is low owing to weakness of labourers after influenza. Distribution of village relief is in progress in Jubbulpore. Influenza has almost subsided. Gram in Betul and Nagpur, rice in Mandla and Drug and juar in Betul fell and rice in Seoni rose by one to 1½ seers per rupee. Other variations are unimportant but indicate downward tendency. Crops are doing well.

The weekly report on Sironcha is as follows:—Influenza still continues in villages in Sironcha but has almost subsided in Jubbulpore. Public health is otherwise good. Owing to weakness of labourers numbers on village gratuitous relief are larger in Sironcha. Distress is slight in affected tracts in Jubbulpore and relief to needy Kotwars there continues. Wandering is insignificant. Distribution of loans is in progress in Jubbulpore. Prices of food grains are high but stationary. Numbers on works:—Sironcha 332, Jubbulpore 11, total 332. Numbers on gratuitous relief:—Sironcha 1,277, Jubbulpore 1,099, total 2,376. Dainoh report not received.

Bombay.—Slight rain fell during the week in parts of Sind. Standing crops have been damaged by rats in Karachi and Hyderabad, have improved by recent rain in several districts and are withering elsewhere. Autumn harvesting continues in Sind and some places in the presidency. Spring sowing is progressing wherever moisture is sufficient. Cotton picking continues in Hyderabad, Thar and Parker, Nawabshah, Broach, Surat, Rewa Kantha, Baroda, East Khandesh and Sholapur. Fodder supply is generally deficient but is being supplemented under control arrangements. Agricultural stock is generally sufficient but cattle are deteriorating in most districts. Irrigation is deficient in parts of Sind and presidency proper. Prices of food grains are high but generally steady. Demand for labour is sufficient. Small test works continue in Ahmedabad, Kaira, Panch Mahals and Ahmednagar.

Hyderabad.—No rain fell during the week. Autumn harvest is almost completed, except cotton which is being picked. Early rice harvest continues, the crop has suffered in some districts. Spring crops are generally fair to good. They have been damaged by insects and need rain in parts of Nalgonda district. Cattle are healthy. Fodder is scarce. Prices of grains continue to be abnormally high. Juar is selling at two seers per rupee in the Parbhani district.

Mysore.—The week was rainless. Standing crops are in fair condition. Harvested crops outturn is poor to fair. Rice and sugarcane outturn is fair. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are generally steady.

Coorg.—The weather was cloudy. Reaping of rice has commenced in parts. Picking of cardamom and coffee continues. Cattle disease prevails in some villages. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient. Public health is fair. Prices of food grains are high.

Madras.—Rainfall was good in Chingleput, Madras, Tanjore and Tinnevely; fair in Banganapalle, Nellore, South Arcot, Trichinopoly, Pudukkottai, Ramnad, Coshin and the hills; unreported in South Kanara; and light or nil elsewhere. Standing crops are fair generally but have been lost or are withering in parts owing to excess or deficiency of rainfall. Harvests of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are limited with outturn sometimes fair but poor in parts of sixteen districts. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding but are restricted in places for want of rain. Condition of cattle is good generally. Water is insufficient, except in Bellary, Cuddapah, Nellore, Chingleput, Coimbatore, Trichinopoly, Tanjore, Malabar and the hills. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of three districts. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of eight districts. Though prices have risen in parts, they are stationary or have fallen in majority of cases. Prospects are fair generally. Condition in Salem and Bellary is improving, but is bad in major taluks of Godavari, Upper Agency. No test works are required immediately anywhere. Relief of weavers in one centre in Anantapur is under consideration.

GAZETTE OF INDIA.

NOTICE.

The 11th November 1918.

On and after 23rd November and until further notice, Parts I, IV, V and VI of the Gazette of India and the Weather and Crop Report will be published in Delhi. Parts II and III will continue to be published in Calcutta. All notifications and other matter intended for publication in those Parts should be addressed to the Publisher at Delhi and Calcutta, respectively.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901.—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No 777—79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 p.m. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette."

THE PATENT OFFICE

PATENTS and DESIGNS.

Calcutta, the 21st December 1918.

The 7th December 1918.

No. 528-D.—Whereas by a license, dated the 9th day of January 1915 the Governor General authorised all persons residing, being, or carrying on business in British India to pay any fees necessary for obtaining the grant, or for obtaining the renewal, of patents, or for obtaining the registration of trade marks or designs, or the renewal of such registrations in an "enemy country,"

And also to pay on behalf of an "enemy" any fees payable in British India on application for, or renewal of, the grant of a patent or on application for the registration of designs or the renewal of such registration;

And whereas it appears to the Governor General in Council that such payments should no longer be authorised,

Now therefore I, Frederick John Napier Thesiger, Baron Chelmsford, hereby revoke the said License and give notice that all such payments as aforesaid are from the date hereof prohibited under the Proclamations relating to Trading with the Enemy.

CHELMSFORD,

Viceroy and Governor General.

In view of this order, no further proceedings of any kind will be permitted in connection with applications for Patents, or applications for the Registration of Designs by Alien Enemies.

NOTICES.

THE PATENT OFFICE, 1, COUNCIL HOUSE STREET, CALCUTTA.

Public room, open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturdays, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

1. All communications relating to applications for patents and for registration of designs under the Indian Patents and Designs Act (II of 1911), or in continuation of applications under the Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888) must be made in English and addressed to the Controller of Patents and Designs, 1, Council House Street, Calcutta. Documents sent by post should be carefully packed and a full address given in all communications.

2. Directions for the guidance of inventors and others are given in the Patent Office Handbook (price one rupee) which contains the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, the Indian Patents and Designs Rules, 1912, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary Rules) Act, 1915, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary) Rules, 1915, together with current regulations and instructions. These should be consulted before an application is made to the Controller.

3. Advice. The Patent Office cannot undertake (1) to give opinions on the interpretation of Patent Law, or on the advisability of protecting inventions and designs or on their infringement; (2) to make searches in respect of information available in the public room; (3) to recommend any particular agent; or (4) to assist in the disposal of inventions. Models are not required unless specially asked for. Drawings must be on tracing cloth and the Rules and Instructions for the preparation of drawings as given in the Handbook should be strictly followed. A provisional patent cannot be secured under the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911.

4. Applicants are warned that the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, is in force in British India only, and patents granted under it do not extend to the United Kingdom or any of the British possessions. The International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property does not include India. For information regarding patents in countries other than India application should be made to the patent offices in the countries concerned.

5. Fees are payable in cash and must be received in the Patent Office within the time allowed by the Acts. When cheques are offered in payment of fees, it must be clearly understood that the office cannot hold itself responsible for any delay that may occur in the collection of cash on the cheques; any cheque not payable in Calcutta is subject to commission for which due allowance should be made. In cases where it is not possible to have the fees handed in at the Patent Office, it is preferable to send them by money-order or postal order payable at Calcutta to the Controller of Patents and Designs, and to advise him that they have been so sent. Stamps will not be received in payment of fees.

6. Trade and property marks and names are not registered and medicines are not patented under the Indian Patents and Designs Act. There is no provision of Law in British India for their registration. Neither does this Act deal with pictures, photographs, etc., for which copyright is obtainable under the Indian Copyright Act, 1914.

7. Printed Specifications of applications, which have been accepted, are published within about three weeks after acceptance has been notified in the Gazette of India. These specifications can be purchased at the Patent Office at a uniform price of 8 annas per copy; and may be seen free of charge, together with other publications of the Patent Office, at the following places:—

DEPARTMENT OF MINES IN INDIA, DHANBAD P. O., MANBHUM.
Indian Mines Act, 1901.
NOTICE.

An examination for first class Coal Mine Managers' Certificates of Competency under the rules applicable to coal mines will be held on the 17th, 18th and 19th February 1919. An examination for second class Coal Mine Managers' Certificates of Competency will be held on the 24th, 25th and 26th February 1919. Both examinations will be held at the Railway Institute, Dhanbad.

Rules 32 and 33 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901, require that a candidate for a first class certificate must be at least 23 years of age and have had at least five years' practical experience in a coal mine, and for a second class certificate be at least 21 years of age and have had at least 3 years' practical experience in a coal mine. The periods of practical experience may be reduced to three years and one year respectively, in the case of a candidate who has received a diploma in scientific and mining subjects after a course of study of at least two years at an educational institution approved in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council, or who has taken a degree in scientific and mining subjects at a University approved in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council.

The fees are Rs. 15 in the case of first class certificates and Rs. 8 in the case of second class certificates. By rule 34 of Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry, Notification No. 2968-82, dated the 21st April 1906, "these fees shall be paid, not less than one month prior to the date of the examination, to the Chief Inspector of Mines at his office." The fees may be remitted by money order or paid in any other manner.

Applications and fees should be addressed to the Chief Inspector of Mines in India, Dhanbad P. O., E. I. Railway, and not to any officer by name. No candidate will be permitted to sit at the examination unless his application and fee is received on or before the 17th January 1919.

G. F. ADAMS,

Chief Inspector of Mines in India, and Ex-Officio President of the Board of Examiners.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER, DELHI.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Delhi, the 5th December 1918.

No. 8425-Financial.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 13 of the Indian Income-Tax Act, 1918 (VII of 1918), and delegated to him by the notification of the Government of India, Finance Department, No. 778-F., dated 28th March 1918, the Chief Commissioner, Delhi, is pleased to make the following rules under the said Act, in supersession of all rules now in force under the Act as published in the notifications Nos. 3382, 3383, 3384, 3385, dated 6th May 1918, No. 3613, dated 14th May 1918, and No. 3748, dated 21st May 1918, and No. 5807, dated the 7th August 1918, and to direct that these rules shall come into force from 1st January 1919. Any action taken or any form issued under the notifications above cited shall be deemed to have been taken, or issued under the rules notified below.

RULES.

1. Under section 43 it is prescribed that in calculating under section 14 (2) the amount of tax payable the amount due on any fraction of a rupee shall be neglected, whether that fraction is more or less than eight annas. Thus the tax to be realised on a month's salary of Rs. 166-10-8 is Rs. 4-5-2 only.

2. Under section 43 it is prescribed that any sum liable to tax or in respect of which an exemption from tax is permissible, when payable or due to an assessee or payable by him in a currency other than that of British India shall be reckoned for the purposes of assessment as (a) equal to the actual amount received by the assessee in the currency of British India or expended by him in such currency as the actual cost of remittance, or (b) if the assessee is unable to prove such actual amount as equal to the value of such sum in the currency of British India, in the case of sterling at the official rate of exchange and in any other case at the market rate of exchange in force during the period in which it was received, due or paid.

3. Under section 43 it is prescribed that any person other than an officer in charge of a treasury or sub-treasury who deducts income tax from the interest of securities at the time of the payment of such interest shall within a week of such deduction send the amount so deducted to the nearest Government Treasury with a statement in the Form No. I appended to these rules.

4. Under section 43 it is prescribed that—

I. A claim to exemption preferred under section 6, sub-section (1), clause (ii) of the Act on that portion of income taxable under the head 'Salaries' which is paid as premium to an Insurance Company shall not be entertained if the claim is made after the expiration of six months from the last day of the financial year during which the premium was paid.

II. A claim to exemption preferred under section 12 (2) of the Act on that portion of income which is paid as a premium to an Insurance Company or as a contribution to a Provident Fund shall not be entertained if the claim is made after the expiration of one year from the end of the financial year during which the premium or contribution was paid.

III. A claim to exemption must be supported—

(1) by the original receipt granted by the Insurance Company or the Manager or Secretary of the Provident Fund; or

(2) by a duplicate receipt given by the Insurance Company or the Manager or Secretary of the Provident Fund; or

(3) by a certificate of payment given by the Insurance Company or the Manager or Secretary of the Provident Fund, or by a Banker.

IV. The receipt duplicate or certificate shall be presented to the officer or person who pays the salary, pension or annuity.

V. Any original receipt presented under clause (IV) of this rule shall be returned to the presenter as soon as the fact of payment is admitted in due course of audit.

5. When any private employer enters into an agreement with the Collector under section 6 (1) to recover on behalf of Government the tax payable by an assessee in respect of any sum paid to him by such private employer under the head 'Salaries' the following conditions shall be observed :—

(a) The Collector shall in agreement with the private employer allow him as remuneration for the collection of the tax a commission which shall be fixed with reference to the circumstances of each case but shall not in any case exceed 5 per cent. of the tax collected.

(b) The private employer shall enter into an agreement with the Collector by forwarding to him an undertaking executed in Form No. II appended to these rules. This agreement is exempt from stamp duty.

(c) When an agreement has been entered into with a private employer, the Collector shall issue to him an authority to collect the tax in Form No. III appended to these rules. If the private employer is a single individual the authority shall be addressed to him personally. If the private employer is a partnership the authority shall be addressed to the partnership and shall state the names of all the partners.

(d) The authority issued by the Collector shall remain in force till it is cancelled. It may be cancelled at any time by the Collector at his discretion or on the application of the private employer.

(e) The private employer shall collect the tax due under the head 'Salaries' at the rate prescribed by the Act at the time of payment on any payment made by him which amounts to or exceeds Rs. 83-5-4 per mensem or Rs. 1,000 per annum.

(f) He shall pay into such Treasury or Sub-Treasury as the Collector may prescribe within a week of the payment by him of any sum on which the tax is deducted the amount of tax deducted less the commission due to him, and he shall at the same time furnish a statement of the details of the payment so made in Form No. IV appended to these rules.

6. Under section 15 (4) it is prescribed that the amount deducted on account of Income-Tax under section 15 (2) of the Act under the head of 'Salaries' shall be paid to the credit of Government—

(a) on the day of the deduction, if made by an officer in charge of a treasury; and

(b) within one week from the day of the deduction, if made by any other person.

7 (a) Under section 16 it is prescribed that the annual return to be delivered to the Collector shall, if submitted—

(1) by a prescribed person in the case of a Government office, be in Form No. V appended to these rules, and

(2) by any other person in Form No. VI appended to these rules.

(b) In the case of a return submitted by any person other than the prescribed person in the case of a Government office the return shall comprise the names of all employees wherever employed. The Collector shall forward a copy of the entries in the return which relate to a person employed or resident in another district to the Collector of the district in question.

(c) Under section 16 (a) it is prescribed that the return shall in every case include the name of every person to whom the payment made in the year to which it relates has amounted to not less than Rs. 600 chargeable under the head "Salaries."

(d) The prescribed persons in the case of Government offices shall be the following:—

(1) Civil audit officers for all gazetted officers and others who draw their pay from audit offices on separate bills; and also for all pensioners who draw their pensions from audit offices.

(2) Treasury officers for all gazetted officers and others who draw their pay from treasuries on separate bills; and also for all pensioners who draw their pensions from treasuries.

(3) Heads of offices for all non-gazetted officers whose pay is drawn on establishment bills.

(4) Forest disbursing officers, and Public Works Department disbursing officers in all cases where direct payments from treasuries have not yet been introduced, for themselves and their establishments.

(5) Head postmasters for themselves and their establishments; heads of telegraph offices (other than combined post and telegraph offices) for themselves and their establishments; Superintendents of Telegraphs for themselves and their establishments.

(6) Controllers of Military Accounts (including Divisional, Military Supply, Marine, Field and War Controllers) for all military employees under their audit excepting the non-gazetted establishments employed under the Indian Munitions Board in whose case the return in question will be furnished to the Collector by the heads of offices instead of by the Central War Controller.

(7) Disbursing officers in the Military Works Department for themselves and their establishments.

(8) Chief Examiners of Accounts or Chief Auditors of the railways concerned for all railway employees under their audit.

8. (a) Under section 28 (1) the amount prescribed is Rs. 600 per annum.

(b) Form No. VII appended to these rules is prescribed as that in which a return may be required under section 28(1).

9. Under section 43 and section 28 (2) it is prescribed that a requisition for a return shall be made in Form No. VIII appended to these rules.

10. Under section 43, Form No. IX, appended to these rules is prescribed as the form of notice for issue when deemed necessary under section 2 (12) and section 34.

11. Under section 43 (2) (b) the following rules are prescribed:—

(a) The assessment on any Insurance Company shall be made for the financial year or for any other period of 12 months ending within the said financial year for which the accounts of the Company are audited and passed by the shareholders.

(b) The taxable income of a Life Assurance Company shall be assessed on a profit equal to the annual average profit disclosed by the last preceding valuation:

Provided that any deductions made from the gross income in arriving at the actuarial valuation, which are not admissible for the purpose of income tax assessment, shall be added to the net profit disclosed by the valuation:

and provided also that if there has been no periodical actuarial valuation, or if the last valuation took place more than five years previous to the year in which the assessment falls to be made, the taxable income shall be determined with reference to the interest dividends and rents received by the Company during the previous year.

(c) If the tax deducted at the source from interest on investments exceeds the tax on profits calculated under rule 2 a refund may be made of the amount by which the deductions from interest on investments exceed the tax payable on profits.

(d) The taxable income derived from the Annuity and Capital Redemption business of a company, the profits of which may equitably be ascertained from the results of an actuarial valuation, shall also be determined in accordance with the method of application applicable to the determination of the taxable income of a Life Assurance Company.

(e) In the case of an Insurance Company other than a Life Assurance Company, i.e., a Fire, Marine, Personal, Accident, Employers Liability, Fidelity Guarantee, Burglary, Third Party or other company, for the ascertainment of the taxable profits of the company, the amounts actually credited by the company in the ordinary accounts of its business for the year of assessment to any fund established for the sole purpose of forming a reserve to meet outstanding or unexpired liabilities to policy-holders (including therein risk of exceptional losses) shall be treated as expenditure incurred solely for the purpose of earning the profits of the business in determining the taxable income of the company in that year, provided that—

(1) any sum on account of unexpired risks, which a company wishes to have treated as expenditure for income tax purposes, must actually be credited to a fund in the accounts of the company;

(2) such sum must also be specifically appropriated to meet liabilities under an existing contract; and

(3) such contract must be with a policy-holder.

(f) Any sum actually credited by an Insurance Company in the accounts of its business for the year of assessment to an Investment Reserve Fund for the purpose of meeting depreciation in the value of its securities shall not be chargeable with tax and shall be treated as expenditure incurred for the purpose of earning the profits of the business.

(g) The taxable income of a company carrying on Dividing Society or Assessment business shall be assessed at 15 per cent. of the premium income in the year of assessment.

(h) The foregoing rules relate to the determination of taxable income from different classes of insurance business. The actual assessment of an Insurance Company carrying on more than one class of business shall, in accordance with the Act, be determined as to its rate and amount by its aggregate taxable income from all the classes of business which it carries on.

12. Under section 43 it is prescribed that when the Collector learns that an assessee other than a Company having his principal place of business in the Delhi Province has a branch of his business in another district he shall request the Collector of the latter district to communicate to him an estimate of the taxable income of the assessee in the latter district. The Collector, Delhi, shall not require the production of accounts or documents relating to a branch business in another district, but shall in making his assessment take into consideration the proceedings forwarded to him by the Collector of any district in which the assessee has a branch business and he shall accept the conclusions of such Collector with such modifications as he may deem necessary for reasons to be recorded by him in writing.

13.(a) Under section 8 (vi) the allowance for collection charges in respect of income derived from house property shall be the amount actually expended on such charges, provided that it shall not exceed 6 per cent. of the gross annual rental, and provided further that no allowance shall be made if the assessee has any source of income other than house property for which he has to maintain an establishment, unless he proves to the satisfaction of the Collector that he has maintained a distinct and separate establishment for the collection of the income derived by him from his house property.

(b) Under section 8 (vii) if a property be unoccupied both by owner and tenant for a proportion of the year not less than that shown in the first column below an allowance shall be made on the scale shown in the second column—

Column I.

One-sixth.
One-third
One-half
Two-thirds.
Five-sixths.
Whole.

Column II.

One-sixth of annual value.
One-third do.
One-half do.
Two-thirds do.
Five-sixths do.
Whole.

14. Under section 9 (2) (vi), proviso (a), it is prescribed that if an allowance is claimed for depreciation of buildings, machinery or plant, the assessee making the claim shall submit with it a statement in Form No. X appended to these rules.

15. Under section 43 (2) (d) the following rules are prescribed:—

(a) An application for composition of the assessment of income-tax may be made in writing to the Collector in any financial year before the tax on the applicant is assessed by the Collector in that year.

(b) No agreement for composition shall be made with any company or to cover income chargeable under the heads of 'Salaries' and 'Interest on Securities.'

(c) No agreement for composition shall be entered into unless the income in regard to which such composition is entered into is in the opinion of the Collector likely to be stable during the next three years.

(d) No agreement for composition shall ordinarily cover a period of more than three years. In exceptional circumstances the Collector is authorized to permit a composition for a period of five years; but the compounded income should not be less than what is essential as the average income for the whole period.

(e) An agreement for composition shall determine the income other than that excluded under rule (b) and the tax on the income fixed by composition shall be levied provisionally at the rate applicable to such income, but such rate shall year by year be revised and eventually fixed at the rate applicable to the total income of the assessee, including his income under the heads excluded from composition, being determined year by year after such total income has been ascertained.

(f) On receipt of an application under rule (a) the Collector shall institute inquiries as to the probability of a future increase or decrease in the applicant's income, and shall determine whether a composition shall be made, and if so, the amount on which the tax shall be compounded. Such amount shall not be less than the full amount which is estimated as the average income of the applicant during the period for which the composition is made.

(g) If the application is sanctioned the applicant shall execute an agreement in Form No. XI appended to these rules within one month from the date on which the amount of composition is notified to him. If he fails to execute the agreement within the above period, the Collector may proceed to assess him as if no application for composition had been made and sanctioned.

(h) The agreement shall be made in two parts. One of such parts executed by the compounding party shall be retained by the Collector and the other part signed by the Collector shall be made over to the compounding party.

NOTE.—The stamp duty on an agreement for composition is eight annas under article 5 (b) of Schedule I of the Indian Stamp Act, 11 of 1899, and a stamp of the same amount is requisite for the counterpart of the agreement under article 25 of the said schedule.

(i) If the party, who has compounded, dies or becomes bankrupt or insolvent or, in the case of a firm, goes into liquidation (whether voluntarily or under the orders of a competent authority) before the expiration of the period comprised in the agreement, then subject to the provisions of the second proviso of section 19 of the Act, the agreement shall cease to have force on the 31st day of March next after such death, bankruptcy, insolvency or liquidation proceedings, save and except as to any portion of the amount of tax which before the said day shall have become payable and shall then be unpaid.

(j) If the Collector is at any time satisfied that the party compounding has obtained the composition fraudulently by understating his income or otherwise, he may cancel his agreement.

(k) If any person before any tax has been assessed in respect of his income offer his accounts for examination by an accountant (munim) nominated by the Collector, and consents to be assessed on the result of such examination, the Collector may direct such examination to be made and after such examination make a composition with such person as to the amount of income on which his tax shall be assessed for the year in respect of which his accounts have been examined.

(l) Where a composition has been made, the application for composition shall be deemed to be the return under section 17 (2) of the Act, and the order of the Collector making the composition shall be deemed to be the notice of demand under section 20 or notice of summary assessment under section 30 (2).

16. Under section 43 the following rules are prescribed :—

(a) The Collector shall unless he sees reason to the contrary, accept as complete and correct with regard to the facts certified in it a statement of profit and loss certified as complete and correct by any member of the undermentioned institutions, viz. :—

- (1) The Institute of Chartered Accountants of England and Wales.
- (2) The Society of Incorporated Accountants and Auditors.
- (3) The Society of Accountants in Edinburgh.
- (4) The Institute of Accountants and Actuaries in Glasgow.
- (5) The Society of Accountants in Aberdeen.
- (6) The Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland, and
- (7) any Accountant who holds a certificate under the Indian Companies Act entitling him to audit accounts within the Delhi Province.

(b) A statement of profit and loss prepared for the purposes of these rules by an Accountant qualified under rule (a) shall be prepared in the form prescribed for a return under section 17 (2) of the Act, and the Accountant shall append to it a certificate that it has been prepared with strict regard to the law and rules in force and applicable to the calculation of incomes for the ascertainment of the rate of income tax chargeable and the amount of income taxable.

(c) When a statement of profit and loss prepared by an approved Accountant under these rules and certified as prescribed by rule (b) is filed by an assessee the Collector shall dispense with a scrutiny of the accounts of such assessee unless in his opinion there are reasons which make such scrutiny desirable.

17. Under section 30 (2) it is prescribed as follows :—

(a) The Collector shall issue a notice to all persons assessed under Chapter III of the Act by means of a notice with a list of such persons attached in Form No. XII appended to these rules.

(b) The notice and list shall be published by being posted up in the district cutcherry and Town Hall and the notice with an extract from the list relating to the assessors resident outside the Municipal boundaries shall also be published by being posted up in the tahsil office and in such conspicuous place or places in the towns and villages of the province as the Collector or Tahsildar may consider necessary.

(c) In addition to the notice prescribed above, notice shall be given in Form No. XIII appended to these rules individually to any assessee :—

- (i) who was not taxed in the previous year ;
- (ii) whose assessment is not the same as in the previous year ; or
- (iii) who in the Collector's opinion is an assessee to whom it is necessary or desirable to give individual notice.

(d) The period within which an application may be made to the Collector shall be 30 days from the date on which the notice and list are published in the district cutcherry.

(e) An assessee who files a return under the proviso to section 30 (3) shall do so in the form prescribed under section 17 (2) and shall verify it as prescribed for that form.

18. Under section 17(1) it is prescribed that the return to be submitted by a company shall be in Form No. XIV appended to these rules and shall be verified by the signature of the principal officer of the Company, and accompanied by a copy, certified by the signature of such principal officer, of the accounts of the Company duly audited and passed by the shareholders for the year for which they were last made up.

19. (a) Under section 17 (2) it is prescribed that the return of income which every assessee other than a company as defined in section 2(7) of the Act may be required to furnish shall be in form No. XVI appended to these rules and that it shall be verified as prescribed in the form.

(b) The Collector in requiring an assessee to furnish him with the return shall issue to the assessee a notice in Form No. XV appended to these rules.

(c) If the notice is sent to any person assessed under the provisions of Chapter IV the Collector shall add to it a note that such person is required to make the return for the income of the minor or other person on whose behalf he will be assessed.

20. Under section 20 Form No. XVII appended to these rules is prescribed for a notice of demand.

21. Under section 21 (1) Form No. XVIII appended to these rules is prescribed as the form of petition to the Chief Commissioner.

22. Under section 43 and section 45 the following rules are prescribed :—

(a) Payment of any demand under the Income Tax Act, VII of 1918, may be made at the office of the Collector, Delhi or of the Tahsildar or Naib-Tahsildar of a Tahsil or Sub-Tahsil in which the assessee has been assessed or to which a recovery certificate has been forwarded by the Collector, Delhi.

(b) Payment may be made—

- (i) by personal tender of cash ; or
- (ii) by remittance made by money order or in currency notes to the officer-in-charge of the treasury or sub-treasury concerned ; or
- (iii) by cheque in favour of the Collector when the assessee has ascertained from the Collector that payment by cheque as proposed by the assessee is permissible.

(c) In deciding whether payment by cheque is permissible or not, the Collector shall permit such payment when the cheque is one which can be encashed without the payment of discount, or if discount is payable for an amount including the discount, at a bank situated at the headquarters of the district.

(d) Every Naib-Tahsildar and Tahsildar in charge of a Sub-Treasury, every officer in charge of a District Treasury, and every officer invested with any powers under the Income Tax Act, VII of 1918, is empowered to give a receipt for any payment made under that Act.

(e) For every payment made under section 15 (1) a receipt shall be granted in the general form prescribed for receipts on account of payments of Government demands other than land Revenue.

(f) Every other payment tendered, whether in cash, by money order, by currency note remittance, or by cheque shall before the amount tendered is credited to Government be scrutinised by the Income Tax Clerk of the district or tahsil at which the tender is made.

(g) If after such scrutiny the Income Tax Clerk is satisfied that the payment tendered is due either in total or in partial payment of a demand, he will certify to this effect in Form No. XIX of chalan appended to these rules.

(h) He shall retain one copy of the chalan in a bound register. In the case of a cash payment tendered personally he shall hand the counterfoils of the chalan to the payer for presentation with the payment at the treasury. In the case of any payment not personally tendered, he shall send the counterfoils with the remittance to the Treasury Officer.

(i) The Treasurer after receipt of any payment tendered with counterfoil chalans shall sign such chalans and return one to the Income Tax Clerk who shall file it, retaining the other for use in the Treasury.

(j) The Income Tax Clerk shall, in accordance with the details noted on a chalan returned to him under rule (i), prepare in duplicate a receipt in Form No. XX appended to these rules for every payment made. One copy of the receipt shall be retained in a bound volume. The other copy, after it has been duly signed by a person authorized to do so under rule 22(d) shall be given to the payer in the case of a payment made personally and in the case of a payment made otherwise shall be forwarded to the payer.

(k) In case a payment made is more or less than the demand standing against the assessee, the Income Tax Clerk shall note on the Receipt Form the balance still due or the excess payment made.

(b) If the payment tendered is less than the demand, it shall be applied to the liquidation of the demand first for process fee, secondly for penalty, and lastly, for the tax assessed. A note in any receipt granted under these rules of any balance still due shall be deemed to be a notice of demand for the amount in question.

(m) Any excess payment shall be entered to the credit of the assessee and shall be refunded to him on his application or accounted for as a payment of any future demand that may be made against him under the Income Tax Act.

23. Under section 43 (2) (c) the following rules are prescribed :—

(a) An application for a refund shall not be entertained after the expiry of the financial year succeeding that in which the amount of which refund is claimed was paid.

(b) An application for refund shall not be entertained by the Collector unless the tax in respect of which a refund is claimed has been assessed in the Delhi Province, or in the case of an assessment under the head 'Salaries' or 'interest on securities' unless the assessee resides in the Delhi Province.

(c) No refund shall be granted on any fraction of a rupee.

(d) An application for a refund consequent on a modification of assessment made by a competent authority whether on adjustment, petition or otherwise, or for any excess payment made by an assessee may be made free of stamp duty to the Collector who after satisfying himself that the refund is due shall issue a refund certificate in the form prescribed for refunds of land revenue.

(e) In any case in which an assessee claims that an adjustment of his assessment should be made and that a refund should thereafter be made to him, he shall submit to the Collector an application free of stamp duty setting forth briefly the circumstances under which his claim is made.

(i) He shall submit also the treasury receipt or receipts issued to him on account of the payment of the tax in reference to which his application is made or a certificate of such payment which the Treasury Officer shall furnish on a petition to him which sets forth correctly the date and amount of any payment in respect of which a certificate is required.

(ii) He shall submit also a return of his income in the form prescribed for a return under section 17(1) or 17(2) of Act VII of 1918 setting forth his total income for the period in which the tax in reference to which his application is made was paid to Government.

(iii) In the case of a refund of tax claimed in respect of a security of the Government of India the applicant shall submit also a certificate in Form No. XXI appended to these rules from the Treasury Officer or Bank at which interest on such security was paid to him.

(iv) In the case of a refund of tax claimed in respect of a dividend or the interest on a security of any company or local authority the applicant shall submit also a certificate of the principal officer of such company or local authority in Form No. XXII appended to these rules in support of the claim that the applicant has been charged with income tax in respect of such dividend or the interest of such security.

(v) In the case of a refund of tax claimed in respect of a share of the profits of a firm divided between the partners the applicant shall submit also a certified extract of the registered deed of partnership or other proof showing the share he holds in the firm.

(f) On receipt of an application to which the prescribed documents are attached, the Collector shall satisfy himself after such enquiry as he may deem necessary, what was the actual income of the applicant during the period to which the application relates.

(g) If the Collector is satisfied that a claim for a refund has been established he shall either—

(i) issue to the person entitled to it a certificate of refund in the form prescribed for refunds of land revenue; or

(ii) in the case of an abatement due in respect of tax chargeable on interest on securities grant such person a certificate in Form No. XXIII appended to these rules.

(h) The applicant or person duly authorised by him in this behalf on receipt from the Collector of the certificate in Form No. XXIII appended to these rules may present it at the Bank or Government Treasury concerned for the purpose of obtaining the abatement at the time of the payment to him of the interest due.

(i) A refund may at the request of an applicant be remitted to him by money order at the cost of the applicant.

(j) Against the order of a Collector on an application for refund under rule (e) a petition shall be allowed to the Chief Commissioner. The petition shall ordinarily be presented within 30 days of the receipt by the petitioner of the Collector's order, but the Chief Commissioner may receive a petition after the expiration of that period if he is satisfied that the petitioner had sufficient cause for not presenting it within that period.

(b) If the applicant for a refund is the Collector competent to sanction the refund, the application shall be made to and disposed of by the Chief Commissioner.

(c) The Collector shall keep on record returns in Forms XIV, XVI, applications under rule 23 (d) and (e) and on Form XXI, copies of certificates of refunds under rule 23 (g) and on Form XXIII issued by him for three years from the end of the financial year in which such returns have been received or certificates issued.

24. Under section 43 it is prescribed as follows :—

(a) Any claim under section 3(2) (ii) of the Act to exemption from the levy of tax on the interest of securities applicable solely to religious or charitable purposes within the meaning of that clause must be supported by a certificate from the Collector which shall be in Form No. XXIV appended to these rules.

(b) Upon the authority of such a certificate granted by the Collector the person who pays the interest on the securities specified shall not deduct tax from it.

25. Under section 43 the following rules are prescribed :—

(a) Any witness who attends to give evidence or produce any account or document in any proceeding under the Income Tax Act VII of 1918 shall be entitled to the payment of expenses under the procedure and on the scale in force for the payment of such expenses to witnesses who attend a Civil Court.

(b) Any payment made to any witness summoned by the Collector or Chief Commissioner shall be recoverable as an arrear of income tax from the assessee when such witness has been summoned in a proceeding in which the assessee has failed to substantiate a case put forward by him. When the case put forward by an assessee wholly or partially succeeds, the officer before whom the proceedings are held may direct that any payment made to any witness may be wholly or partially paid by Government and if he directs that a part shall be paid by the assessee such part shall be recoverable as an arrear of income tax.

26. Under section 43 the following rules are prescribed :—

(a) Any reference made to the Chief Commissioner under section 51(1) of the Act or otherwise in any matter relating to the Act shall be made through the Collector.

(b) Any petition to the Chief Commissioner praying him to exercise the power conferred on him by section 23 of the Act shall be presented to the Collector who, in the exercise of his discretion, shall withhold such petition unless he is of opinion that the grounds on which it is based call for consideration by higher authority, in which case he shall forward the petition to the Chief Commissioner whose decision shall be final.

27. Under section 43 the following rules are prescribed for the determination of the income of certain assessee non-resident in British India :—

I.—Indian Branches of Non-resident Firms—

(a) Indian branches of non-resident firms shall ordinarily be assessed on the actual profits disclosed from the balance sheet and profit and loss accounts of the branches.

(b) Except as provided in rule (c) in cases of firms in which the form adopted for the accounts and balance sheets of the head office or of the Indian branches does not enable the share of the profits properly due to the Indian branches to be accurately gauged or which keep no accounts at all either at their head office abroad or at their branch offices in India, the Collector may either fix as the incomes of the Indian branches for the assessment purposes a percentage of the turnover of the business done by the branches or, if that be not suitable, determine such incomes on the basis of any other method of calculation which he considers to be more reliable.

(c) The profits of the Indian Branches of non-resident Insurance Companies (Life, Marine, Fire, Accident, Burglary, Fidelity, Guarantee, etc.) shall be based on the proportion of the total profits of the companies corresponding to the proportion which their Indian premium income bears to their total premium income.

II.—Indian Firms allied to Non-resident Firms of which they are not technically branches or agencies—

(d) Except as provided in section 33, sub-section (2), the procedure prescribed by rules (a) and (b) shall also apply in the case of Indian firms allied to non-resident firms of which they are not technically branches or agencies.

28. Under section 43 the following rule is prescribed :—

If among persons engaged in any business, profession or vocation in partnership together, any change shall take place in any such partnership, either by death or dissolution of partnership as to one or any of the partners or by admitting any other partner therein, before the time of making the assessment, or within the year for which the assessment ought to be made under the Act, or if any person shall have succeeded to any business, profession or vocation within such periods as aforesaid, the tax payable in respect of such partnership, or any such partners, or any person succeeding to such business, profession or vocation, shall be computed on the profits derived from such business, profession or vocation, during the previous year in accordance with the provisions of the Act notwithstanding such change therein or succession to such business, profession or vocation. The assessment so made will in all cases be subject to adjustment under the provisions of section 19 of the Act.

Income Tax year 19 _____

To _____

In accordance with the provisions of section 17 (2) of the Income Tax Act, VII of 1918, you are required to furnish to me, within 30 days of the date of this notice, a return in the form enclosed and to verify it in the manner prescribed in the said form.

The income to be returned is your total income from all sources either—

- (1) during the 12 months ending on the 31st day of March 191 _____, or
- (2) if your accounts have been made up within the said 12 months in respect of a year ending on any date other than the said 31st day of March, then at your option during the year ending on the day on which your accounts have so been made up, provided that if a date other than the 31st day of March has been once adopted in this connexion at your option, such date cannot be changed without my consent.

Attention is invited to the notes appended hereto. The statement prescribed should be filled up after you have carefully studied the notes.

You will see that the details of your income must be given separately under 6 heads. The notes indicate separately for each head the manner in which the income included under it should be calculated. The names of your creditors and debtors and of the persons with whom you do business need not be noted unless this is necessary for the purpose of explaining any particular which is relevant to your assessment. Details by which your taxable income is calculated must be entered in the statement of details concerned and the income chargeable with tax shown in the statement of details under each head must then be entered in the summary of taxable income, and in that summary should also be noted the allowances, if any, claimed by you on account of premia, etc., paid for life insurance, etc. If you desire further information or assistance to enable you to fill up the return you should apply for it to the Income Tax Department of my office.

Failure to furnish the return on the due date will render you liable to assessment by me to the best of my judgment in the absence of the return, in which case you will not have the right to petition the Chief Commissioner against the amount to which you are assessed. It will also render you liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to a fine which may extend to Rs. 10 for every day during which the return is not submitted.

You are bound in filling in this return to make entries which are correct according to the best of your knowledge and belief. If in making your return you conceal particulars of your income or deliberately furnish inaccurate particulars and thereby return your income below its real amount, you are liable to pay on the difference between your income as finally ascertained and the amount returned by you, income tax at double rate.

The particulars entered in your return will be treated as confidential. Any official who discloses any of them is liable to conviction and punishment under section 42 of the Act.

Under the rules issued under the Act your return may be prepared and certified by a qualified Accountant. If it is so prepared and certified a scrutiny of your accounts will be dispensed with unless there are reasons which make such scrutiny desirable.

NOTES.

HEAD 1 OF SUMMARY OF INCOME.

1. The return must show the total gross income from salary, etc., without any deduction on account of any payment for any life insurance, provident fund, etc.

2. Any portion of a salary paid outside British India for services in British India is assessable and must be included in the return.

3. Except for an allowance made under special conditions such as those to which the Simla Hill Allowance Code applies, an allowance for house rent or the value of rent free quarters enjoyed by an employee is assessable to income-tax and must be included in the return.

HEAD 2 OF SUMMARY OF INCOME.

If a security is issued with interest payable in British India, the amount of such interest is liable to tax in British India even if by any special agreement it is actually paid outside British India, e.g., by the encasement of Government of India promissory notes for payment in London.

The Companies of which the securities must be entered under this head in table A of the summary are any Company as defined in the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or formed in pursuance of an Act of Parliament or of an Act of the Legislature of a British possession and any foreign Association carrying on business in British India which has been declared by the Government of India to be a Company for the purposes of the Income Tax Act.

A local authority of which the securities must be entered under this head in table A of the summary is a Municipal Committee, District Board, body of Port Commissioners or other authority legally entitled to, or entrusted by the Government of India or a Local Government with, the control or management of a municipal or local fund in India.

If in respect of any security on which the tax is not deducted on the interest when it is paid, such as the bonds of a foreign government, the interest is paid in a currency other than that of British India, the equivalent amount should be entered in terms of the British Indian currency at the current rate of exchange.

HEAD 3 OF SUMMARY OF INCOME.

Details must be given separately for every house, whether situated within or without British India, of which the rent is received in British India.

The bond fide annual value may differ from the actual rent as it is the full market value for which each house may reasonably be expected to let from year to year irrespective of any charges by way of municipal rates or taxes thereon. It is important that such bond fide annual value should be fully estimated and returned.

The assessee must give full particulars of mortgages, insurances and other charges on account of which allowances are claimed.

HEAD 4 OF SUMMARY OF INCOME.

Under this Head is taxable income derived from any trade, commerce or manufacture or any adventure or concern in the nature of trade, commerce or manufacture, and from any business such as that of a retail or wholesale merchant, a banker, a regular stock broker, or a regular speculator in satta or badni, as well as income derived from a mortgage (including a mortgage without possession of agricultural land) or as interest on money lent—even if the assessee has only a single sum out on loan—and interest on fixed deposits and current accounts.

No deduction may be made for—

- 1 any sum paid for the purchase of a good will and other similar expenditure of a capital nature;
- (2) any payment made to form an insurance fund against future losses;
- (3) any amount sent off out of the profits of the year on account of ascertained losses of previous years;
- (4) any bad debt not actually written off;
- (5) interest on the capital of the owner or owners of a business;
- (6) any payment or drawing on account of personal expenditure or of any allowance to a relative or dependant;
- (7) any payment made on account of income tax or super-tax;
- (8) any sum given by way of commission not in the regular course of business;
- (9) any sum expended on charity or as a present; or
- (10) expenditure not incurred in the regular course of business.

The Act exempts all agricultural income from taxation, but profits derived from business in such agricultural produce are subject to taxation. It has been prescribed that any person who makes a profit by business in his own agricultural produce which is exempt from taxation and for which he has not actually paid the market value may deduct that market value in calculating the taxable profits of his business.

Allowances are claimable in respect of—

- (a) the rent paid for the premises in which a business is carried on, or where the premises are owned by the assessee for the bond fide annual market value at which such premises may reasonably be expected to be let; provided that if the assessee lives in the premises the allowance to be made will be determined by the Collector with regard to the proportionate part of the premises which the assessee uses as a residence;
- (b) the sum actually expended by the assessee on repairs to premises which he rents for his business on a repairing lease, provided that if he lives in the house the allowance to be made will be proportional part of such sum to be determined by the Collector;
- (c) interest on capital borrowed for a business if the payment of such interest is not in any way dependent on the earning of profits;
- (d) any premium paid for the insurance of the buildings, machinery or plant of a business;
- (e) any sum actually expended on current repairs to the buildings, machinery or plant of a business;
- (f) such sum on account of depreciation of buildings, machinery or plant as may be admitted on a claim in the prescribed form which may be obtained from the Collector's office;
- (g) in respect of any machinery or plant sold or discarded as obsolete the difference between its original cost to the assessee less the aggregate of allowances made for depreciation and the amount for which the machinery or plant was sold or its scrap value;
- (h) any sum paid for land revenue, local rates or municipals' taxes on account of business premises;
- (i) any expenditure—not in the nature of capital expenditure—incurred solely for the purpose of earning the profits of the business, including replacements necessary for carrying on the business.

HEAD 5 OF SUMMARY OF INCOME.

1. The tax on professional earnings is due on the profits of any profession or vocation.
2. Professional fees paid in any part of India to a person ordinarily resident in British India must be included in the income taxable.
3. An allowance can be made for expenditure not in the nature of capital expenditure incurred solely for the purpose of the vocation or profession.
4. An allowance can be made on such items as lawyers' books or dentists' instruments only on account of replacements. Other expenditure on this account must be treated as capital expenditure.
5. No allowance can be made on account of any personal expenses of the assessee.

HEAD 6 OF SUMMARY OF INCOME.

All income derived from any source other than those returned under the preceding heads is taxable under this head. Examples of such income are—

- (i) ground rent;

- (ii) income from agricultural land not paying land revenue to the British Government;
- (iii) language rewards;
- (iv) a fee for the conduct of an examination paid to an officer whose ordinary duty does not include such conduct;
- (v) director's fees;
- (vi) survey fees.

An allowance may be made for any expenditure incurred solely for the purpose of making such income, provided that it is not of the nature of capital expenditure or any personal expenses of the assessee.

EXEMPTIONS.

The Act does not apply to the following classes of income :—

- (i) Any income derived from property held under trust or other legal obligation wholly for religious or charitable purposes, and in the case of property so held in part only for such purposes, the income applied, or finally set apart for application, thereto.
 - (ii) Any income of a religious or charitable institution derived from voluntary contributions and applicable solely to religious or charitable purposes.
- In clauses (i) and (ii) a charitable purpose includes relief of the poor, education, medical relief, and the advancement of any other object of general public utility.
- (iii) The income of local authorities.
 - (iv) Interest on securities which are held by, or are the property of, any Provident Fund to which the Provident Funds Act, 1897, applies, or any Provident Insurance Society to which the Provident Insurance Societies Act, V of 1912, is, or but for an exemption under that Act, would be, applicable.
 - (v) Any capital sum received in commutation of the whole or a portion of a pension, or in the nature of consolidated compensation for death or injuries, or in payment of any insurance policy, or as the accumulated balance at the credit of a subscriber to any such Provident Fund.
 - (vi) Any special allowance, benefit or perquisite specifically granted to meet expenses wholly and necessarily incurred in the performance of the duties of an office or employment of profit.
 - (vii) Legacies.
 - (viii) Any receipts not being receipts arising from business or the exercise of a profession, vocation, or occupation, which are of a casual and non-recurring nature, or are not by way of addition to the remuneration of an employé.
 - (ix) Any perquisite or benefit which is neither money nor reasonably capable of being converted into money.

Certain exemptions are allowed to military and civil officers of Government and to other special classes which need not be detailed here, but the following exemptions by the Government of India are of general interest, viz.—

- (a) Fees and other receipts of a similar character received by a University or other educational institution existing solely for educational purposes and not for purposes of profit.
- (b) Scholarships granted to meet the cost of education.
- (c) The allowances attached to—
The Victoria Cross.
The Military Cross.
The Order of British India.
The Indian Order of Merit.
- (d) The yield of Post Office cash certificates.
- (e) The interest on deposits in the Post Office Savings Bank.

The Government of India has directed that the following class of income shall be exempt from the tax payable under the said Act, but that it shall be taken into account in determining the total income of an assessee for the purposes of the said Act :—

- (a) The interest on Government securities purchased through the Post Office, and held in the custody of the Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs.
- (b) The interest on the 5½ per cent. War Bonds of 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1925 and 1929 which were issued free of income-tax.
- (c) An assessee will not be charged with tax on account of any income which he enjoys as a member of a company or of a firm or of an undivided Hindu family where the company, the firm or the family is taxed but the assessee must return such income for the determination of the rate at which he himself is chargeable.
- (d) There may be excluded from the amount charged but not from the total income calculated for ascertaining the rate of tax any sum which in the aggregate shall not exceed of the total income so calculated paid by an assessee to effect an insurance on his own life or on the life of his wife, or in respect of a contract for a deferred annuity on his own life or on the life of his wife, or as a contribution to any provident fund to which the Provident Funds Act, V of 1897, applies, or to any provident fund which complies with the provisions of the Provident Insurance Societies Act, V of 1912, or has been exempted from the provisions of that Act.

FOREIGN SEA-BORNE TRADE.

PREFATORY NOTE.

The returns of Indian imports and exports, including re-exports of merchandise, (exclusive of treasure and Government stores), by sea during the six months, April to September, 1918, show a trade balance (excluding treasure) in favour of India of over R39 crores or about 6 per cent below that of the corresponding period of the previous year. In the six months, April to September, 1917, the balance in favour of India was nearly R42 crores.

India's Balance of Trade in the six months, April to September, 1916, 1917, and 1918, was as follows :—

	Six months, April to September.
	1916 R (Lakhs)	1917 R (Lakhs)	1918 R (Lakhs)
Exports of merchandise, including re-exports (private)	118,51	110,62(a)	121,97(a)
Imports "	75,33	68,81	82,50
Excess of Exports over Imports	38,18	41,81	39,47
Net Imports of Treasure (private)	—	—	—
Council Bills and Telegraphic transfers paid in India	10,28	31,26·7	28,18
Sterling Bills on London sold in India	11	64·5	3·5
Enfaced Rupee paper (net imports)	14·9	14·3	18
Interest on Enfaced Rupee paper	—	—	—
Balance of Trade	—	—	—

As the publication of the treasure figures has been temporarily discontinued, it is not possible to give here the net (private) exports from April to September, nor the net balance of trade in the same period. It may be of interest to note that the net (private) exports, including treasure, are greater than those of 1917, and also than those of 1916. The balance of trade, so far as shown by the statistics of merchandise, treasure, Council Bills, and Enfaced Rupee paper, in the six months ended September, 1918, was in favour of India, but not to so large an extent as in 1916, while in the corresponding period of 1917 it was against India.

The total exports of Indian merchandise in the six months ended September, 1918, amounted to nearly R117 crores, of which over R65 crores went to ports within the British Empire and about R52 crores to ports outside the Empire. The United Kingdom took 27 per cent of the exports, followed by the United States 15 per cent, Japan 12 per cent, Italy 3 per cent, and France 2 per cent. Egypt took nearly 11 per cent, but a considerable portion of the shipments to Egypt was transit trade, the exports being consigned to Port Said "for orders." During the same period there were imported into India goods of the value of over R82 crores. Of this amount over R50 crores were sent from ports within the Empire, R41 crores alone coming from British ports. The principal exporter to India, apart from the United Kingdom (R41 crores or 50 per cent), was Japan, which exported goods to the value of over R15 crores (19 per cent). The United States were the third largest exporter (9 per cent), and Java the fourth (5 per cent).

The following figures showing India's trade with the British Empire and Allies, and Neutral countries during the six months (April to September) of the years 1916, 1917, and 1918, are interesting :—

Trade with the British Empire and AlliesApril to September.

COMMERCE — WAR.

The 28th December 1918.

No. 1172-D.—The following extract from the Board of Trade Journal, dated the 14th November 1918, is published for general information :

GOVERNMENT NOTICES AFFECTING TRADE.

EXPORT AND IMPORT SECTION.

Relaxation of export and import prohibitions.

The Board of Trade announce that the following relaxation of the existing prohibitions of export and import have been brought into force from to-day. Further relaxations will be announced in subsequent issues of the "Journal."

A.—EXPORT PROHIBITIONS.

The following is a list of the articles affected and of the changes made in the nature of the prohibitions applicable to each. In explanation of the changes it should be noted that goods on List A are prohibited to all destinations, and goods on List B to all destinations outside the British Empire, while goods on List C are prohibited only to countries neighbouring enemy countries.*

It will of course be understood that the existing position regarding trading with enemy countries is in no way affected by these notifications.

*All Destinations in European and Asiatic Russia and in other Foreign Countries in Europe and on the Mediterranean, except France and French Possessions, Italy and Italian Possessions, and Portugal, and to all Ports in any such Foreign Countries.

B.—IMPORT PROHIBITIONS.

A General Licence has been issued to permit of the import of any quantity of the following articles.* The licence will be valid for three months.

*The General Licence above referred to does not for the present relieve importers from the necessity for procuring a "permit to purchase" if the goods are imported from the United States. A further intimation in regard to this requirement will be made as soon as possible.

CUSTOMS—WAR.

The 28th December 1918.

No. 1208-D.—The following Royal Proclamation is published for general information :—

BY THE KING.

A PROCLAMATION

RELATING TO THE IMPORTATION OF CERTAIN ARTICLES INTO THE UNITED KINGDOM.

GEORGE R. I.

Whereas by section forty-three of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876, it is provided that the importation of arms, ammunition, gunpowder, or any other goods may be prohibited by Proclamation :

And whereas by certain Proclamations entitled Prohibition of Import Proclamations the importation of certain goods has been prohibited accordingly :

And whereas it is expedient that the importation into the United Kingdom of certain other goods should be prohibited :

Now, therefore, We, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council, in pursuance of the said Act and of all other powers enabling Us in that behalf, do hereby proclaim, direct and ordain as follows :—

As from and after the date hereof, subject as hereinafter provided, the importation into the United Kingdom of the following articles is hereby prohibited, viz. :—

Oleo stearine and tallow.
 Olive oil.
 Onions.

Provided always, and it is hereby declared, that this prohibition shall not apply to any such goods which are imported under licence given by or on behalf of the Board of Trade, and subject to the provisions and conditions of such licence.

This Proclamation may be cited as the Prohibition of Import (No. 28) Proclamation, 1918.

Given at Our Court at Buckingham Palace, this Eighth day of November, in the year of our Lord One thousand nine hundred and eighteen, and in the Ninth year of Our Reign.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Delhi, the 27th December 1918.

SHIPS.

No. 76.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 5 of the Impressment of Vessels Ordinance, 1914 (II of 1914), read with the Emergency Legislation Continuance Act, 1915 (I of 1915), the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rules for the assessment of compensation for vessels impressed under the said Ordinance :—

Short title.

Definitions.

1. These rules may be called the Impressment of Vessels (Compensation) Rules, 1918.

2. In these rules—

"Board" means a Board of Arbitration constituted under rule 3, and, in the case of any act to be done or decision taken, the majority of the members of that Board.

"The Ordinance" means the Impressment of Vessels Ordinance, 1914, as continued by the Emergency Legislation Continuance Act, 1915.

"Port of impressment" in reference to any vessel means the port where such vessel was impressed under the Ordinance, provided that in the case of vessels impressed in any port of Burma other than Rangoon, the port of impressment shall be deemed to be Rangoon.

3. In default of agreement as to the compensation payable under the Ordinance in respect of any vessel impressed thereunder, such compensation shall be assessed by a Board of Arbitration to be constituted in the case of each vessel. The Board shall consist of three persons of whom one shall be a Judge of the High Court or Chief Court exercising jurisdiction at the port of impressment and shall be nominated by the Chief Justice or Chief Judge of such High Court or Chief Court; one shall be nominated by the Governor-General in Council, and one by the owner of the vessel.

Any Judge nominated under this rule shall be deemed to be so nominated for every arbitration held at such port.

4. The arbitration shall be held in every case at the port of impressment, provided that if the principal place of business of the owner of the vessel is at any one of the following ports, vis., Madras, Bombay, Karachi, Calcutta or Rangoon, and the vessel was not impressed at such port, it shall be held either at the port of impressment or at such port, at the option of the owner.

5. In the case of any vessel in respect of which compensation is to be assessed under these rules, the Governor-General in Council shall, as soon as may be after publication thereof, cause to be forwarded to the owner by registered post a notice calling upon him within one month.—

- (a) to nominate a person to act as arbitrator on his behalf;
- (b) to communicate the name and address of the person so nominated by him to such office of Government as may be specified for that purpose in the notice; and
- (c) if he is entitled to an option under rule 4, to inform such officer where he desires the arbitration to be held.

6. If on the expiration of one month after the receipt of such notice by him or at his principal place of business, the owner has not so nominated and communicated the name and address of his arbitrator, or if such arbitrator, when notified of the place and time where and when the arbitration is to be held, is unwilling or unable to act, the Board may be completed by nomination by the Governor-General in Council, and a Board so constituted shall be deemed to have been constituted in accordance with the provisions of rule 3.

7. The Board shall determine the procedure to be followed at the arbitration, and may hear, or refuse to hear, counsel for the parties as it may think fit.

8. In determining the compensation to be paid to the owner of a vessel, the Board shall not be bound to have regard to the rate of profit earned by the vessel at the time of, or immediately prior to, its impressment, but shall have regard to the rate of profit usually earned before the war by similar vessels, and to whether such rate of profit was unreasonable or excessive and to any other circumstances of the case.

9. The compensation to be awarded may include any sum which the Board may consider to be properly payable to the owner in respect of the costs of the arbitration.

Provided that no costs shall be included where in the opinion of the Board a reasonable offer of compensation has been made to the owner of the vessel.

10. Every award under these rules shall be made within three months from the constitution of the Board, provided that such period may be extended in any case by the Governor-General in Council.

Award to be written and signed.

11. The Board shall make its award in writing and shall sign the same.

12. The award shall declare the total amount (if any) to be paid to the owner as compensation and shall be communicated to the parties.

13. The Board shall have power to correct in an award a clerical mistake or error arising from any accidental slip or omission.

14. Every award made under these rules shall be final and binding upon the parties and upon all persons claiming under them or either of them.

A. H. BINGLEY, Major-General,
Secretary to the Government of India.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for week ending Saturday, 21st December 1918.

Burma.—The week was practically rainless. In Lower Burma reaping of winter rice is progressing. In Upper Burma cultivation of island crops and spring rice continues. Harvesting of cotton, groundnut, late sesamum and winter rice is proceeding. Standing crops are generally good. Cattle are generally healthy. Price of unhusked rice in Rangoon has risen slightly but is considerably above normal. The market for white rice is steady at Rs. 845 per hundred baskets for old-crop specials.

Assam.—The weather was seasonable. Rain is wanted generally for spring crops. Harvesting of winter rice, plucking of cotton and pressing of sugarcane continue. Harvesting of pulses and pruning of tea have begun. Outturn of winter rice is middling to fair, and that of cotton is fair. Prospects of other crops are not good. Cattle disease is reported from four districts. The price of common rice is practically stationary.

Bengal.—During the week light scattered showers fell in a few districts. More rain is wanted for the growth of standing spring crops. Prospects are generally reported unfavourable. Reaping of winter paddy is in full swing. Threshing continues in eastern districts. Pressing of sugarcane is going on. Owing to influx of new rice into market average price of common rice has fallen.

Bihar and Orissa.—Scanty showers fell in parts of Cuttack and Angul. There was no rain in the rest of the Province. Harvesting of winter paddy and pressing of sugarcane continue. Prospects are bad. Sowing of spring crops is in progress but the crops are suffering from want of moisture and rain is urgently wanted. In Angul test works are going on at 13 centres. Gratuitous relief was given to 879 persons. The price of common rice has risen in four districts, fallen in three and remained stationary in the remaining districts as compared with that of the preceding week. Cattle disease is reported from eight districts. Report from the Feudatory States of Orissa and Chota Nagpur has not been received.

United Provinces.—Except for light rain at Robertsganj, in Mirzapur and Rurki, the week was rainless. Damage to crops by drought is reported from some districts. Preparation of land for and sowing of spring crops and poppy are nearing completion. Harvesting of autumn crops is nearly over. Irrigation of spring and extra crops is in progress. Pressing of sugarcane is going on. Condition of standing crops is fair. Prospects of spring crops on area sown are at present fair. Condition of agricultural stock is good but cattle disease is still prevalent in some places. Fodder is scarce and dear. Water and market supplies are generally sufficient. Prices are almost stationary but show a tendency to rise in a few places.

Punjab.—The weather remained dry. Rain is badly wanted everywhere. Picking of cotton, pressing of sugarcane and harvesting of maize, and other autumn crops continue. The yield is normal or below normal on irrigated and poor on unirrigated lands. Sowings of wheat and other spring crops are in progress and are generally below normal. Irrigated crops are average to good and unirrigated crops are much below average. Cattle are generally healthy but fodder is scarce in most districts. Sugarcane is being used as fodder in some districts. Water is generally sufficient. Prices are generally stationary and above scarcity rates. Prices of wheat:—Ambala and Lyallpur 6, Ferozepore 6½ and Rawalpindi 6½ seers per rupee.

North West Frontier Province.—The week was rainless. Rain is greatly needed throughout the province. Sowing of spring crops is in progress in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan, but restricted in Bannu. Prospects of standing crops are average on irrigated and below average on unirrigated areas in Peshawar and Bannu, and poor in Dera Ismail Khan owing to drought. Maize and chari are being reaped with average outturn. Prices of wheat:—Peshawar 7½ and Dera Ismail Khan 7¼ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Report not received.

Kashmir.—The week was generally wet, cloudy and cold. Spring crops are being sown. Cattle disease is mostly prevalent. Prices are high.

Rajputana.—The weather was cold. Sowings and irrigation of spring crops are going on. The condition of cattle is poor owing to scarcity of fodder in most places. Water is sufficient. Prices are stationary.

Central India.—No rain fell during the week. It was insufficient in Gwalior and Bundelkhand. Autumn crops are being harvested. Cotton is being picked in Gwalior, Indore, Malwa and the Southern States. Spring crops are being sown in Gwalior, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand, Malwa and the Southern States. Standing crops are suffering from want of rain in Bhopal, are unsatisfactory in Gwalior except certain districts where they are good and fair elsewhere. Probable outturn is not satisfactory in Gwalior; average in Bhopal, except 12 annas in Bhopal itself; below average in Dhar and Jhabua; and fair elsewhere, except in Jaora, Rutlam and Sailana. They have been damaged in Maihar and Kothi from insufficient rain. Agricultural stock is bad in Gwalior and fair to good elsewhere except where cattle disease prevails. There is scarcity of fodder in Gwalior, Indore, Bhopal, Bundelkhand, and parts of Baghelkhand, Malwa and the Southern States. Prices are high. Poppy cultivation is in progress in Gwalior and Indore. Number on gratuitous relief 117 in Lugasi and 55 in Bajna.

Central Provinces.—There was no rain during the week. The weather has been cool and occasionally cloudy. Picking of cotton is in progress. Harvesting of autumn crops is approaching completion but threshing and winnowing continue. Spring crops, except linseed, are generally in good condition and prospects are favourable. Fodder is dear or scarce in parts of seven districts. Cattle are healthy. Distribution of village relief continues in Jubbulpore. In Sironcha gratuitous relief has been extended to those agricultural labourers who have been rendered weak by influenza. Rice and juar in Betul rose by about a seer while wheat, rice and juar in Chhindwara; juar in Nagpur; rice in Chanda; wheat in Raipur; and juar in Akola, Amraoti and Yeotmal, fell by one to two seers per rupee. Elsewhere prices remained stationary or fluctuated slightly exhibiting a downward course.

Feudatory States.—Condition of standing crops is generally good.

Bombay.—Slightly beneficial rain fell during the week in parts of Upper Sind Frontier and Sholapur. Standing crops are fair to good in several districts. Autumn harvesting continues in some places in the presidency. Spring sowing is progressing wherever moisture is sufficient. Cotton picking continues in parts of Sind, Broach, Surat, East Khandesh, Sholapur and Baroda. Fodder supply is generally deficient but is being supplemented under control arrangements. Agricultural stock is generally sufficient but cattle are deteriorating in most districts. Irrigation is generally deficient. Prices of food grains are high but generally steady. Demand for labour is sufficient. Small test works continue in Ahmedabad, Kaira, Panch Mahals and Ahmednagar.

Hyderabad.—There were slight showers in parts of some districts. The average was 6 cents. Autumn cotton is being picked. Early rice harvesting continues, the crop has suffered in some districts. Spring crops are generally fair to good. They need rain and are being weeded. Late rice lands are being prepared and sown. There is adequate water in wells and tanks. Cattle are healthy. Fodder is scarce. Prices of grains continue to be abnormally high. Juar is selling at two seers per rupee in the Parbhani District.

Mysore.—The week was rainless. Standing crops are in a fair condition. Harvested ragi outturn is poor to fair. Rice and sugarcane outturn is fair. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are generally steady.

Coorg.—The weather was cold. Reaping of rice continues. Picking of cardamom and coffee continues. Cattle disease prevails in some villages. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient. Public health is fair. Prices of food grains are high.

Madras.—Rainfall was good in Madras, South Arcot, Trichinopoly, Tanjore, Madura, Ramnad, Tinnevely, Travancore, and fair in Vizagapatam Agency, Nellore, Chingleput, Pudukkottai, the Hills, Bellary, and unreported, light or nil elsewhere. Standing crops are fair generally but have been lost or are withering in parts owing to excess or deficiency of rainfall. Harvests of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are limited with outturn sometimes fair but poor in parts of fifteen districts. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding but are restricted in places for want of rain. Condition of cattle is good generally. Water is insufficient except in Ouddapah, Nellore, Chingleput, Coimbatore, Trichinopoly, Tanjore, Tinnevely, Malabar, South Kanara and the Hills. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of three districts. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of seven districts. Prices though fallen in parts are stationary or have slightly risen in majority of cases. Prospects are fair generally. Conditions in Nagar Taluk of Godavari, Upper Agency, are still bad. Relief measures are not required immediately in any tract except weavers' relief in one centre in Anantapur.

The Gazette of India.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY.

CALCUTTA, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1918.

Separate paging is given to this Part in order that it may be filed as a separate compilation.

PART II.

Notifications by High Court, Comptroller-General, etc.

GAZETTE OF INDIA.

NOTICE.

The 11th November 1918.

On and after 23rd November and until further notice, Parts I, IV, V and VI of the Gazette of India and the Weather and Crop Report will be published in Delhi. Parts II and III will continue to be published in Calcutta. All notifications and other matter intended for publication in those Parts should be addressed to the Publisher at Delhi and Calcutta, respectively.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901:—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No 777-79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 p.m. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette."

An examination for first class Coal Mine Managers' Certificates of Competency under the rules applicable to coal mines will be held on the 17th, 18th and 19th February 1919. An examination for second class Coal Mine Managers' Certificates of Competency will be held on the 24th, 25th and 26th February 1919. Both examinations will be held at the Railway Institute, Dhanbad.

Rules 32 and 33 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901, require that a candidate for a first class certificate must be at least 23 years of age and have had at least five years' practical experience in a coal mine, and for a second class certificate be at least 21 years of age and have had at least 3 years' practical experience in a coal mine. The periods of practical experience may be reduced to three years and one year respectively, in the case of a candidate who has received a diploma in scientific and mining subjects after a course of study of at least two years at an educational institution approved in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council, or who has taken a degree in scientific and mining subjects at a University approved in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council.

The fees are Rs. 15 in the case of first class certificates and Rs. 8 in the case of second class certificates. By rule 34 of Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry, Notification No. 2968-82, dated the 21st April 1906, "these fees shall be paid, not less than one month prior to the date of the examination, to the Chief Inspector of Mines at his office." The fees may be remitted by money order or paid in any other manner.

Applications and fees should be addressed to the Chief Inspector of Mines in India, Dhanbad P. O., E. I. Railway, and not to any officer by name. No candidate will be permitted to sit at the examination unless his application and fee is received on or before the 17th January 1919.

The following is a list of the more important "General" and other maps which are available for the quarter ending 30th September 1918.

EXPLANATION.

All Maps from Surveys after 1905 called "Modern" are printed in 4 or 5 colours, i.e., water forms in blue, towns and roads in red, forests and jungle in green, cultivation in yellow, hill contours in brown with shading to emphasize the hills, and other details in black.

All Maps from Surveys prior to 1905 are printed in black only or in black with hills in brown.

All Maps on scales $1''=4$ miles, $\frac{1}{1,000,000}$ or nearly $1''=16$ miles and $\frac{1}{2,000,000}$ or nearly $1''=32$ miles are printed in either one or two of the following editions, except those marked "Provisional Issue" which are from old surveys:—

- (1) Layered edition, printed in colours with contours and graduated layer tints to show altitudes and shading to emphasize the hills. (Colour ribands along boundaries cannot be added to this edition.)
- (2) Political edition, printed in colours with colour ribands along boundaries, contours to show altitudes and shading to emphasize the hills.
- (3) Provisional issue, generally printed in black or in black with hills in brown. Colour ribands along boundaries are added by hand when required at an extra cost of 2 annas per sheet.

No. 347.—Whereas it appears to the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, that a survey of a line from Agra to Karachi on the Broad gauge system is going to be surveyed in the following villages in the District of Ajmer-Merwara, and land is likely to be needed for the public purpose, in accordance therefore with section 4 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, it is hereby notified for the information of the public that it shall be lawful for any officer either generally or specially authorized by Government in this behalf and for his servants and workmen;—

- to enter upon the survey and take levels of any land in such locality;
- to dig or bore into the sub-soil;
- to do all other acts necessary to ascertain whether the land is adapted for such purpose;
- to set out the boundaries of the land proposed to be taken and the intended line of the work (if any) proposed to be made thereon;
- to mark such levels, boundaries, and line by placing marks and cutting trenches;
- and, where otherwise the survey cannot be completed and the levels taken and the boundaries and line marked, to cut down and clear away any part of any standing crop, fence or jungle;

Provided that no person shall enter into any building or upon any enclosed court or garden attached to a dwelling house (unless with the consent of the occupier thereof) without previously giving such occupier at least seven days' notice in writing of his intention to do so.

12. No person shall drive or cause to be driven on the public highway a thela which has any tyre less than 2½ inches wide or of which an axle or axle box is so worn as to cause unnecessary damage to the road.

13. No person shall drive on a public road any thela of which any wheel is less than 1'—9" in diameter.

14. Any person committing a breach of any of the above bye-laws shall be liable on conviction by a Magistrate to a fine which may amount to twenty rupees.

No. 8745-Home.—It is hereby notified that the holidays to be observed in public offices under the Chief Commissioner of the Province of Delhi during the year 1919, which are specified in the schedule hereto annexed, are public holidays within the meaning of section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, XXVI of 1881. These holidays should be given to all Government servants, subject to the single condition that it should be open to the head of an office to stop a holiday notified under the Act in the case of any individual guilty of idleness or inattention to duty, unless the day in question is deemed specially sacred by the members of the religion which the offender professes.

2. In addition to the holidays specified in the schedule all Government offices will be closed from the 28th to the 30th December 1919.

Heads of offices may also, subject to the condition that there are no arrears of work, permit the last Saturday of every month to be observed as a holiday in the English and Vernacular Offices. In such cases all establishments should be allowed, subject to the condition laid down in the case of public holidays, under the Negotiable Instruments Act, to take full advantage of the holidays.

3. This Notification does not apply to holidays to be observed in Civil Courts.

No Official Orders or Notifications, the Publication of which in the GAZETTE OF INDIA is required by Law or which it has been customary to publish in the CALCUTTA GAZETTE, will be included in the SUPPLEMENT. For such Orders and Notifications the body of the GAZETTE must be looked to.

IMPORTS INTO CHIEF PORTS DURING OCTOBER, 1918

RETURN SHOWING the QUANTITIES of the PRINCIPAL STAPLES of AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE IMPORTED into CALCUTTA, BOMBAY, KARACHI, and MADRAS PORTS by RAIL, RIVER, and SEA during OCTOBER, 1918

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA

December 24, 1918

G. FINDLAY SHIRRAS,

Director of Statistics.

Published by order of the Governor-General in Council

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN SELECTED ARTICLES IN OCTOBER, 1918.

The object of the tables appended is to show the quantities of the principal staples of agricultural produce imported from the various provinces, etc., and from foreign countries into the ports of Calcutta, Bombay, and Karachi, and into the Madras ports during the month of October, 1918, and for the seven months, April to October, 1918, as compared with the corresponding periods of 1917. The statistics include sea-borne foreign and coasting trade as well as inland (rail and river-borne) trade. They have been furnished by Collectors of Customs, Steamer Companies, Railway Audit Officers, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, etc.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN OCTOBER, 1917 AND 1918.

It will be seen from Table I that the imports by rail, river, and sea in October, 1918, as against the corresponding month of 1917, show (in round numbers) a decrease of—

- 60 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour)
(38,600 tons as against 91,600 tons last year),
- 39 per cent in gram and pulse
(35,100 tons as against 58,100 tons last year),
- 22 per cent in jute
(572,900 bales as against 733,100 bales last year), and
- 6 per cent in rape and mustard seed
(7,100 tons as against 7,500 tons last year).

The imports of linseed by rail, river, and sea into ports show an increase of 455 per cent (40,300 tons as against 7,300 tons last year), due mainly to larger exports from Bihar and Orissa and the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh. The increase of 30 per cent (66,300 bales as against 51,100 bales last year) in the imports of raw cotton is accounted for by an increase in exports mainly from the Punjab, Sind and British Baluchistan, Madras and non-British ports in India. There was an increase of 10 per cent (87,920,900 lbs as against 34,384,900 lbs last year) in tea on account of larger exports from Bengal and an increase of 8 per cent (82,800 tons as against 76,500 tons last year) in rice (including paddy) due to the same cause.

It will be seen from Table IV (wheat, excluding wheat flour) that the principal source of the imports in October, 1917, was the Punjab. During October, 1918, the principal sources of the imports were the Punjab (52 per cent) and Behar and Orissa (22 per cent of the total).

NOTE.—One bale of cotton or jute is equivalent to 400 lbs.

One maund is equivalent to 82½ lbs.

One maund of paddy is taken as equivalent to 25 seers of rice.

GENERAL RESULTS—SEVEN MONTHS' IMPORTS INTO THE PORTS FROM UP-COUNTRY, ETC., THIS YEAR AND LAST YEAR.

The seven months' figures in table I show (in round numbers) an increase of—

- 75 per cent in linseed
(190,700 tons as against 108,700 tons last year),
- 32 per cent in jute
(2,911,200 bales as against 2,208,600 bales last year),
- 25 per cent in gram and pulse
(580,800 tons as against 466,100 tons last year),
- 12 per cent in tea
(167,069,000 lbs as against 148,095,700 lbs last year), and
- 9 per cent in rice (including paddy)
(583,200 tons as against 536,700 tons last year)

The imports of wheat (excluding wheat flour) by rail, river, and sea into ports show a decrease of 51 per cent (735,800 tons as against 1,515,400 tons last year), mainly on account of smaller exports from the Punjab, the Central Provinces and Berar, Rajputana and Central India, and Sind and British Baluchistan. The imports of raw cotton show a fall of 25 per cent (1,398,200 bales as against 1,855,300 bales last year), owing to smaller exports, principally from Bombay, the Central Provinces and Berar, Rajputana and Central India, and Madras. The decrease of 6 per cent (77,000 tons as against 82,000 tons last year) in rape and mustard seed is accounted for by smaller exports from the United Provinces.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN OCTOBER, 1918, AS COMPARED WITH THE PREVIOUS MONTH.

As compared with September, 1918, the imports in October, 1918, into the ports referred to above show (in round numbers) a decrease of—

- 59 per cent in gram and pulse
(35,400 tons as against 85,300 tons previous month),
- 54 per cent in rape and mustard seed
(7,100 tons as against 15,300 tons previous month),
- 35 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour)
(36,600 tons as against 56,700 tons previous month),
- 12 per cent in rice (including paddy)
(82,800 tons as against 94,100 tons previous month),
- 4 per cent in raw cotton
(66,300 bales as against 69,200 bales previous month),

and an increase of—

- 50 per cent in jute
(572,900 bales as against 380,900 bales previous month),
- 39 per cent in linseed
(40,300 tons as against 28,900 tons previous month), and
- 26 per cent in tea
(37,920,000 lbs as against 30,104,800 lbs previous month),

The Statistics for October, 1917 and 1918, as also for the seven months ending October, 1917 and 1918, together with those for September and October, 1918, are summarised below:—

NOTE.—Compared with the corresponding fortnight of the preceding year, the rise in the prices of all food grains in all the reporting provinces, except in the case of maize in the North-West Frontier Province, continues; the most noticeable increases were in rice in the Central Provinces and Berar and in Sind and Baluchistan, in wheat and jawar in the Central Provinces and Berar and the Bombay Presidency, in barley, maize and gram in the United Provinces and in arhar dāl in Delhi. The rise in the price of ghi in the Madras Presidency and in Burma and of raw sugar (gur) and salt in the North-West Frontier Province is noteworthy. The fall in the price of salt in the United Provinces, Bihar and Orissa, Bengal, Delhi, Assam and Sind and Baluchistan is also noticeable.

FOREIGN SEA-BORNE TRADE DURING NOVEMBER, 1918.

REVIEW of the SEA-BORNE TRADE of BRITISH INDIA for the month of
- NOVEMBER, 1918, and for the eight months ended November, 1918.

FOREIGN COMMERCE.FOREIGN SEA-BORNE TRADE DURING NOVEMBER, 1918.

The trade returns of British India for November, 1918, as compared with its immediate predecessor, showed considerable decreases in the import and export trade. The total imports of merchandise in November, 1918, were valued at over R11 crores as against nearly R16 crores in the preceding month, and the value of the exports was R16 crores as against R24 crores, and of the re-exports R1.15 lakhs as against R1.14 lakhs. Imports decreased by 27 per cent and exports by 32 per cent, while re-exports increased by nearly 1 per cent. As compared with November, 1917, imports showed a decrease of 32 per cent and exports of 19 per cent, while re-exports showed an increase of 43 per cent. A review of the trade of the eight months ended November, 1918, will be found on page 6.

The chart showing the course of monthly imports and exports, including re-exports, from April, 1917, to November, 1918, as compared with the pre-war average, is appended below :—

MONTHLY IMPORTS AND EXPORTS FROM APRIL, 1917, TO NOVEMBER, 1918, AS COMPARED WITH THE PRE-WAR AVERAGE.

(Private merchandise only)

The actual net excess of exports, including re-exports, over imports was R5.72 lakhs in November, 1918, and R9.08 lakhs in October, 1918. The statement below shows the figures of imports and exports, including re-exports, during October and November of the years 1916, 1917, and 1918, and the actual net excess of exports over imports during the same periods :—

The customs duty figures are an index to the volume of the import trade only, since under exports jute, rice, and tea only are subject to duty. In the eight months ended November, 1918, the import duties increased to nearly Rs. 20 lakhs from nearly Rs. 17.95 lakhs in the eight months ended November, 1917, and the export duties rose to over Rs. 2.57 lakhs from nearly Rs. 1.86 lakhs. The grand total of gross Indian sea and land customs revenue (excluding salt revenue) in the eight months, April to November, 1918, amounted to over Rs. 11.96 lakhs, as compared with nearly Rs. 10.49 lakhs in the same period of last year.

SHIPPING.

The following table shows the number and tonnage (net register tonnage) of vessels, which entered and cleared with cargoes at ports in British India during November 1918, as compared with October, 1918, and November, 1917 and 1913.

Entered with cargoes.

November 1913 (pre-war month)	226	643,245	80	3,608	306	646,853

The total tonnage entered and cleared with cargoes in November, 1918, as compared with that in the preceding month (October, 1917) and in the corresponding month of 1913, and 1917, is shown in the last column of the table above. In the month of November, 1918, there were 271 arrivals* and 313 sailings† with cargoes, in and from India. As regards tonnage, if a comparison be made with November, 1913, the corresponding pre-war month, it will be seen that there is a decrease in the tonnage of vessels cleared with cargoes of 316,366 tons or 49 per cent. The decrease in the entries (with cargoes) amounted to 256,633 tons or 45 per cent.

The shipping clearances with cargoes in foreign trade from the ports of British India in the eight months, April to November, 1918, as compared with the corresponding period of 1913,—i.e., before the war broke out, were as follows:—

	TONNAGE (NET REGISTERED TONNAGE) CLEARANCES IN THE EIGHT MONTHS APRIL TO NOVEMBER.
	1913 (Pre-war period).	1918
British ships (including British Indian)	4,188,666	2,276,921
Foreign ships	1,202,042	1,121,384
TOTAL	5,390,708	3,408,305

In 1918, as against 1913, the total tonnage clearances with cargoes have declined 37 per cent. In 1913 the British (including British Indian) tonnage was 78 per cent and foreign tonnage 22 per cent of the total, while in 1918 the British (including British Indian) tonnage is 67 per cent and foreign tonnage 33 per cent.

* The details were as follows:—Bengal 24, Bombay 68, Sind 80, Madras 69, and Burma 20.

† The details were as follows:—Bengal 41, Bombay 60, Sind 135, Madras 24, and Burma 30.

RAILWAY STATISTICS.

Railway statistics, like the import and export statistics above, are a valuable index to the general movement of trade throughout the country, and show that the earnings from 1st April to 30th November, 1918, were Rs55.84 lakhs, as against Rs49.42 lakhs in the corresponding period of 1917, or an increase of Rs6.42 lakhs.

TRADE OF ADEN.

The grand total value of the imports and exports of merchandise, by sea, into and from the port of Aden amounted to Rs1.01 lakhs in the month of October, 1918, and Rs8.53 lakhs in the seven months, April to October, 1918. The value of the principal articles of imports and exports was as follows:—

PUBLICATION OF STATISTICAL INFORMATION.

The following press note has been issued:—It has been decided to remove the restrictions on the publication of Sea-borne Trade Statistics, except in respect of treasure. The monthly accounts of the Sea-borne trade and navigation of British India will, in future, contain the particulars of the countries of consignment and final destination and the details of the movement of shipping, which were temporarily discontinued on account of the war. Collectors of Customs and Chambers of Commerce have been informed accordingly.

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA

CALCUTTA, DECEMBER 21, 1918

Second RICE Forecast, 1918-19

This forecast is based on reports received from provinces, which contain about 99 per cent of the total area under rice in British India. It refers practically to the whole rice crop (early and late) in all the reporting provinces, with the exception of the crop in Coorg, and the late (spring) crop of Bombay. The reports relate to conditions up to and including the beginning of December.

2 The total area reported amounts to 74,868,000 acres as against 77,987,000 acres (the revised figure) at the corresponding date of last year, or a decrease of 5 per cent. As compared with the revised final estimate of last year (79,712,000 acres), the present estimate shows a decrease of 7 per cent. The season has, on the whole, been unfavourable owing mainly to scanty rains.

3 The following table gives the acreage and estimated outturn as far as available. The table of outturn is incomplete owing to the absence of estimates from Madras and the United Provinces. These latter provinces furnish outturn figures for the final forecast published in February.

The provincial reports are summarised below :—

Bengal (26·3 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—(i) The area sown with autumn (aus) rice is reported to be 5,067,000 acres as against 5,076,000 acres reported at this time last year. For the province as a whole, the average outturn for autumn rice is estimated at 77 per cent of the normal, and on this basis the gross yield of cleaned rice works out to 1,505,000 tons, as against 1,641,000 tons last year, or a decrease of 8 per cent. The abnormal rise of the rivers in July and excessive rain in August considerably damaged the crop in most of the eastern and northern districts, Rajshahi, Bogra, Patna, Maimensingh, and the Chittagong Hill Tracts being the worst sufferers. The season, on the whole, was an unfavourable one for aus paddy.

(ii) The area under winter (aman) rice is estimated at 15,962,000 acres, which is 8 per cent above the estimate at this time last year. The average outturn per acre is at present estimated at 77 per cent of the normal, as against 98 per cent at this time last year. On this basis the gross yield is estimated at 5,644,000 tons, which is 16 per cent below the corresponding estimate of last year. The weather, on the whole, continued seasonable up to the middle of September, in spite of the heavy rainfall which caused floods in Eastern and Northern Bengal. The rainfall in the latter half of the month was, however, scanty and badly distributed. The October rains, which are the mainstay of the crop in Bengal, were practically a total failure, the only districts receiving anything like an adequate supply being Jalpaiguri, Bakarganj, Noakhali, and Chittagong. November was practically rainless, and the season which opened in a promising manner ended badly. The deep-water aman paddy, where not damaged by floods, has suffered least, but the crop is a poor one both on high lands, and on lands transplanted late in the season.

(iii) An area of 370,000 acres was reported in March last to be under summer (boro) rice with an estimated yield of 141,000 tons, as against 375,000 acres and 166,000 tons last year.

Bihar and Orissa (20·5 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—(i) The area under autumn rice is estimated at 3,732,000 acres which is 2 per cent below the area of last year. The average outturn for the province works out to 75 per cent of the normal, and on this basis the total yield is calculated at 1,028,000 tons, as against 1,395,000 tons, the revised estimate of last year, or a decrease of 26 per cent. Excessive rain in June, deficient rainfall in July, and the entire cessation of rains from the middle of September seriously affected the outturn of the crop in many districts. Floods also caused damage in Patna, Darbhanga, Purnea, and Cuttack.

(ii) The area under winter rice is now estimated at 11,248,000 acres, which is 4 per cent below the estimate made at this time last year. According to the estimates of the District Officers, the average outturn for the province works out to 53 per cent of the normal; but the provincial Director estimates this an underestimate and raises it to 57 per cent. On this basis the total yield is estimated at 3,719,000 tons, which is 48 per cent below the corresponding estimate of last year. The growing of earlier monsoon in mid-September in the rainfall of July, deficiencies and irregular winter rice crop, which gravely prejudiced the year, and good late rains, and entirely dependent.

it has suffered severely on high lands and unirrigated areas, especially in the Patna and Chota Nagpur divisions, and in that portion of the Bhagalpur division lying south of the river. The light rainfall received at the end of October did very little good to the crop, except in Puri and in the north of the river in a belt near the frontier.

(iii) An area of 40,000 acres was reported in March last to be under summer rice, which is about 3 per cent above the corresponding estimate of last year. The outturn was estimated at 14,000 tons, the same as in last year.

Madras (14.1 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The area sown up to the 1st December is estimated at 8,347,000 acres, which is 17 per cent below the estimate at this date last year. The decrease is general and is most marked in the central and southern districts. It is due to the failure of the south-west monsoon in July and August, and the late receipt of the north-east monsoon. The heavy north-east monsoon rains in November have saved the crop in many tracts, and have enabled large areas to be planted late with short duration varieties. There will also be much second crop in the east-coast districts. The final area, however, is likely to be below 10 million acres, in place of last year's 11½ millions. Outturns are expected to be below normal everywhere, except on the small area in the Deccan. On the average the outturn is estimated at 80 per cent of the normal.

Burma (13.3 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The total area sown is reported to be 10,675,000 acres, as compared with 10,720,000 acres, the corresponding estimate of last year. For the province as a whole, the average outturn per acre is estimated at 90 per cent of the normal, and the total yield at 6,563,000 tons of unhusked rice (= 4,397,000 tons of cleaned rice). In Lower Burma the early and middle rains were timely and sufficient, but the shortage of ripening showers affected the crop in almost all districts. Extensive damage was also caused by floods in Maubin, Insein, Thaton, and Tharrawaddy. In Upper Burma the rains were satisfactory in Minbu, Mandalay, Katha, and Yamethin. In Shwebo, however, the crops in unirrigated areas, suffered badly from want of rain and a very large area was also destroyed by insects. The surplus available for export is expected to be 2,974,000 tons of unhusked rice (equivalent to 2,350,000 tons of cargo rice or 2 million tons of cleaned rice), as against 3,600,000 tons of unhusked rice (equivalent to 2,850,000 tons of cargo rice or 2,415,000 tons of cleaned rice) estimated at this time last year.

United Provinces (8.3 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—(i) The total area now reported is 6,643,000 acres, which is 9 per cent below the estimate at this time last year. There was some rain in the first week of September, but the greater part of that month was rainless. There was no rain in the plains districts during October. Under these conditions the late (winter) crop suffered severely and was a partial failure where irrigation was not available. The early (autumn) crop was fair in the Gorakhpur and Benares Divisions, but withered in parts of Rohilkhand and Oudh. The outturn of early rice for the province as a whole is estimated at 60 per cent of the normal and that of late rice at 40 per cent.

(ii) The area under hot weather (summer) rice was reported in October last to be 25,000 acres and 12,000 tons, as against 24,000 acres and 11,000 tons last year.

Central Provinces and Berar (6.4 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The total area is estimated at 5,231,000 acres (39,000 acres being in Berar) as against 5,228,000 acres estimated at this time last year. The total yield is estimated at 658,000 tons (2,000 tons being in Berar) as against 1,647,000 tons for last year, or a decrease of 60 per cent. From the second week of September to the end of the third week of November there was practically a drought, which seriously damaged the crop and considerably reduced its outturn in several districts.

Assam (6 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—(i) The total area sown with autumn rice is estimated at 647,000 acres, which is about 23 per cent less than last year's area. The average outturn for the province is estimated at 70 per cent of the normal, and the total yield at 143,000 tons, which is 40 per cent below the estimate of last year. The decrease in area and outturn is attributed to insufficient rain at sowing time, and subsequent heavy floods and insect pests.

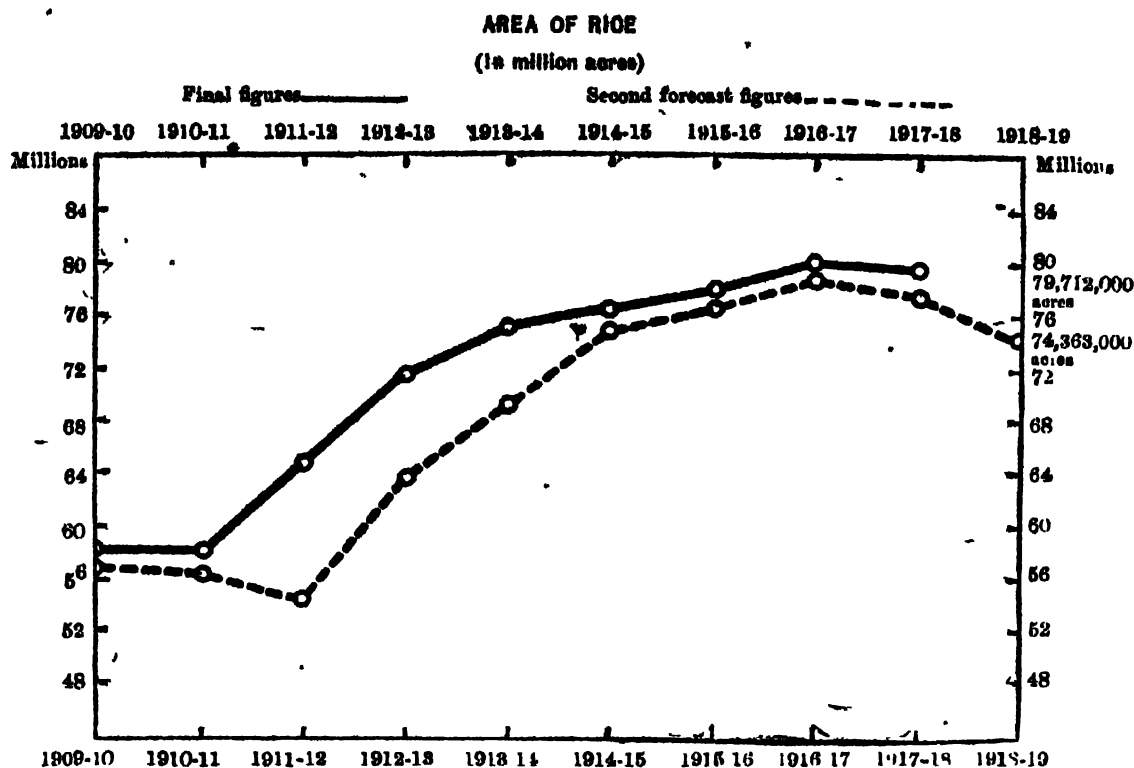

(ii) The area under winter rice is estimated at 3,267,000 acres, as against 3,256,000 acres reported at this time last year. The average outturn for the province is estimated at 73 per cent of the normal and the total yield at 1,015,000 tons, which is 27 per cent below the estimate made at this date last year. Since the issue of the first forecast the weather conditions have been very unfavourable. The rainfall in September was generally normal, but in October there was a considerable shortage, which retarded the growth of transplanted rice. Insects have damaged the crop in several districts.

(iii) An area of 250,000 acres was reported in March to be under summer rice, this being the same as reported in the preceding year. The outturn was estimated at 90,000 tons, as against 96,000 tons last year.

Bombay (2.3 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The total area is reported to be 1,983,000 acres (532,000 acres being in the Indian States), which is 24 per cent less than the area of last year. The total yield is estimated at 413,000 tons (121,000 tons being in the Indian States) as against 1,212,000 tons last year, or a decrease of 66 per cent. The crop suffered more or less everywhere from long breaks and insufficient rains after planting, particularly at the seed-forming period, which injuriously affected the outturn to a considerable extent.

Sind (1.5 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The total area is estimated at 876,000 acres (8,000 acres being in the Khairpur State), which is 25 per cent below last year's area. The total yield is estimated at 288,000 tons (3,000 tons being in the Khairpur State), which is also 25 per cent less than the estimate of last year. The crop suffered from insufficient water supply and has yielded a poor outturn in the south and a fair outturn elsewhere.

Chart.—The chart below shows the variations in the second forecast as compared with those in the final figures for the last nine years. It should be borne in mind that the large increases from 1911-12 to 1913-14 are due to a considerable extent to the addition of reporting tracts from year to year.

Rice crop in foreign countries.—From the latest available information published by the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome, it appears that the area sown with the rice crop in Italy in 1918 is estimated at 321,000 acres, which is 5 per cent below the estimate of last year. In Japan the total area in 1918 (7,556,000 acres) is about the same as in the previous year. According to the Monthly Crop Report (September, 1918) published by the Bureau of Crop Estimates, United States of America, the estimates of the rice crop of 1918 are 1,120,000 acres and 821,000 tons.

Information, specially obtained for this forecast through Consulates, shows that the area sown with rice in Indo-China is estimated at 11,641,000 acres. The estimates for Cochin-China are 4,326,000 acres and 1,377,000 tons. The area under rice in Java is estimated at 8,304,000 acres. The rice crop in Korea is reported to be favourable this year, and the yield is estimated at 1,379,000 tons, which is 13 per cent above the estimate of 1917.

From unofficial sources it appears that the estimated yield of rice in Japan is 7,807,000 tons (55,783,000 koku). The crop in Siam is estimated unofficially at 1,100,000 tons.

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA

CALCUTTA, DECEMBER 18, 1918.

Third COTTON Forecast, 1918-19.

This forecast is based on reports furnished by provinces, which comprise the entire cotton area of India. It deals with reports on both the early and late varieties of cotton up to the beginning of December 1918. A fourth and final report will, as usual, be published in the third week of February, 1919.

The total area this year amounts to 19,677,000 acres, as against 23,789,000 acres (the revised figure) on this date last year, or a decrease of 17 per cent. As compared with the final estimate of last year (24,781,000 acres), the present estimate shows a decrease of 21 per cent.

The total estimated yield is 3,282,000 bales of 400 lbs each, as against 3,939,000 bales (the revised figure) on this date last year, or a decrease of 17 per cent. The present estimate of outturn, as compared with the sum of actual exports (net) abroad, mill consumption, and extra-factory consumption in 1917-18 (3,860,000 bales),* shows a decrease of 15 per cent.

The present figures for the provinces are as follows (the figures for previous years are given on page 5):—

Provinces and States ^(a)	Acres (thousands)	Bales— 400 lbs. (thousands)	Yield per acre lbs.
Bombay (a)	4,618 ^(b)	519	48
Central Provinces and Berar	4,212	780	75
Madras (a)	2,732	519	76

Rajputana	292	61	84
Mysore	93	26	112
TOTAL	19,677	3,282	67

On the basis of these figures, the average outturn per acre of the present crop for all India is 67 lbs. as against 66 lbs. last year. The crop was seriously affected by deficient rainfall in many of the important cotton growing provinces. The condition of the crop is reported to be good in the Central Provinces and Berar, Madras, Punjab, Burma, Bengal, and Bihar and Orissa. Elsewhere it is reported to be less satisfactory, and in Bombay, Hyderabad and parts of Central India (where rainfall was scanty) the crop is reported to be poor.

A statement showing the present estimates of area and yield according to the recognised trade descriptions of cotton is given below:—

GRAND TOTAL	19,677	23,789	3,282	3,939

The provincial reports are summarised below:—

•Bombay (27 2 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area under both early and late cotton is estimated up to 1st December at 4,618,000 acres (including 1,554,000 acres in the Indian States, but excluding 796,000 acres in Baroda), which is 31 per cent below the area reported at this date last year. The decrease is attributed partly to inadequate sowing rains and partly to greater attention being paid to food and fodder crops, for which there was a more pressing local need. The yield is at present estimated at 549,000 bales (including 114,000 bales in the Indian States, but excluding 81,000 bales in Baroda), which is 56 per cent below the estimate made at this date last year. In Gujarat the crop suffered from the beginning owing to deficient rain, particularly in the north, and also severe heat in October. Unfavourable winds and cloudy weather in November further damaged what was already poor crop. In south Gujarat flowering and the formation of bolls set in early on account of the absence of cold and dew, which are very essential at the maturing period. Elsewhere the crop is not yet ready and is being irrigated in places. In the Deccan the crop suffered from prolonged drought in July. It partially revived with opportune rain in August, but was again adversely affected at the flowering stage by deficient rain in September. The yield has been moderate in East Khandesh in a few favourably situated localities or where the crop was helped by irrigation, but

(a) Includes Indian States.

(b) Includes Hyderabad.

*Net exports abroad from September, 1917 to August, 1918 were 1,400,000 bales, the mill consumption (as estimated by this Department) according to a method adopted in consultation with the Bombay Millowners' Association and the Bombay Cotton Trade Association) 1,701,000 bales, and the estimated extra-factory consumption 760,000 bales, as accepted by the latter Association.

elsewhere the yield is generally poor. In the south, the crop is somewhat better as it was benefited to some extent by the late rains. In the Karnatak, although sowings were somewhat late, the season has been fairly good, and the crop is doing well particularly in Dharwar, where recent rains have been specially beneficial. In parts of Belgaum and Bijapur further rain is wanted. The area and outturn of cotton by trade descriptions in the Bombay Presidency (including Baroda but excluding Sind) are:—

	Acres.	Bales.
Oomras . { Khandesh	1,281,000	143,000
{ Barot and Nagar	50,000	3,000
Dholeras	1,630,000	105,000
Bengal-Sind (Rajputana)	30,000	5,000
Broach	1,280,000	156,000
Coompta-Dharwar	870,000	180,000
Westerns and Northern	264,000	88,000

Central Provinces and Berar (20·2 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area sown is reported to be 4,212,000 acres (2,887,000 acres being in Berar), which is 8 per cent below the area reported at this date last year. The shrinkage is attributed to high prices of grain and fodder and general shortness of foodstocks, which induced the cultivators to place larger areas under foodgrains. The yield is estimated at 789,000 bales (494,000 bales being in Berar), which is 34 per cent above the corresponding estimate of last year. The distribution of rainfall in August was very good for the crop, except in the Akola district, where there was a break till the middle of the month. September was practically rainless. The prospects of the crop were quite satisfactory till the end of August over the greater part of the heavy cotton tract, and bumper yields might have been obtained had the crop been favoured by rainfall in the first fortnight of September. The tracts which received sufficient rain up to the end of August fared better, and should yield average outturns. The dry character of the season caused the crop to mature rapidly, and picking started early.

Madras (10·3 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area sown up to 1st December is estimated at 2,722,000 acres (25,000 acres being in the Banganapalle State), which is 8 per cent above the area reported at the corresponding date of last year. The increase is attributed to the high price of cotton and the restriction of the area under groundnut owing to late rains. The total yield is now estimated at 519,000 bales (3,000 bales being in the Banganapalle State), which is 4 per cent above the estimate at this date last year. The season has been marked by very late rains in the north, most of the crop not being sown until the end of September or October. The north-east monsoon rains were also late in the south, but have since been plentiful. The season since sowing has been favourable to the crop everywhere. The area and outturn according to trade descriptions are as follows:—

	Acres	Bales.
Tinnevelly	1,140,000	91,000
Salem		11,000
Cambodias		209,000
Northerns and Westerns	1,802,000	158,000
Cocanadas	257,000	58,000
Others	28,000	2,000

Punjab (6·7 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area is reported to be 1,580,000 acres (144,000 acres being in the Indian States), which is 9 per cent below the area reported at the corresponding date of last year. The decrease, which occurred in every district except in the colonies where the American types of cotton are becoming popular, is attributed to unfavourable weather conditions at sowing time. The total yield is estimated at 501,000 bales (including 57,000 bales in the Indian States), which shows an increase of 78 per cent, as compared with the estimate made at this date last year, which was a very bad year for the crop. Owing to the insufficiency of the monsoon rainfall, the season was not favourable, especially for the unirrigated crop. The result is that the yield is generally normal on the irrigated but poor on the unirrigated area. The American cotton, which is largely grown in the colony tracts, fared better than ordinary cotton.

United Provinces (5·7 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area sown is reported to be 863,000 acres (11,000 acres being in the Rampur State), which is 34 per cent below the area reported at this date last year. The decrease is attributed to unfavourable weather conditions. The yield is estimated at 175,000 bales (including 3,000 bales in the Rampur State), which is 12 per cent below the yield of last year, the season generally has been unfavourable for the crop. Sowing rains were insufficient throughout the Doab and Bundelkhand, which constitute the principal cotton growing tracts of the province. A normal area was sown in Rohilkhand and in parts of Oudh, but the plants suffered owing to the holding off of the rains. The situation considerably improved in the second half of August, when most of the cotton growing districts had a well distributed rainfall. There was some rain in the first week of September, but the greater part of the month was rainless, and the late sowings, which were put down on the August rain, failed to mature. The crop was unusually early and late pickings yielded little.

Sind (1·2 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area is reported to be 270,000 acres (6,000 acres being in the Khairpur State), which is 23 per cent above the area reported at this date last year. The increase is attributed to high prices. The yield is estimated at 98,000 bales (including 2,000 bales in the Khairpur State), which is 26 per cent above the corresponding estimate of last year. The crop suffered from the exceptionally hot weather in October and the absence of cold in November. The water-supply in the canals also proved insufficient. It is also stated that the Influenza epidemic paralysed agricultural operations just at the cotton picking season, and considerable areas have not been properly picked.

Burma (1·1 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area sown is reported to be 338,000 acres, which is 43 per cent above the area reported at the corresponding date of last year. The increase is attributed to high prices obtained for the crop in the last two years. The yield is estimated, at 70,000 bales, being double that reported at this date last year. Sowings generally were normal, but the shortage of rain affected the crop especially in the Meiktila, Myingyan, Sagaing, and Pakokku districts.

Bengal (0·4 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area is estimated at 78,000 acres, being 3 per cent above last year's area at this date. The yield is estimated at 26,000 bales, which is 30 per cent above the corresponding estimate of last year. The weather conditions were generally favourable although some damage was reported from Hill Tippera to the early crop through excessive rainfall in July and August; subsequently the late crop suffered somewhat from absence of rain. On the whole a fairly good outturn is expected. The area and outturn of cotton according to trade descriptions are:—

	Acres.	Bales.
Bengal-Sind	5,000	1,000
Cornillas	68,000	25,000

Bihar and Orissa (0·3 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area is estimated at 77,000 acres, which is 15 per cent above the area reported at this date last year. The increase is attributed to high prices of cotton and dearness of piece-goods. The yield is estimated at 19,000 bales, which is 19 per cent above the corresponding estimate of last year. For the early crop, weather conditions were generally favourable in the early part of the season, but latterly insufficient rainfall hampered the growth of the crop especially in Chota Nagpur. For the late crop, weather conditions were favourable in North Bihar and the condition of the crop is reported to be generally good in this tract. Sowings of the crop have not yet begun in Outback.

North-West Frontier Province (0·2 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area is reported to be 38,000 acres, being the same as reported at this date last year. The estimated yield is 9,000 bales, as compared with 10,000 bales reported at this time last year. The outturn is average on both the irrigated and unirrigated lands of Peshawar and Bannu, and generally below average elsewhere.

Assam (0·2 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The area sown is estimated at 33,000 acres, which is 3 per cent above the area reported at this date last year, but the estimated yield (12,000 bales) is the same as the corresponding estimate of last year. The weather was on the whole favourable and the prospects of the crop good, except in Sylhet and the Lushai and Garo Hills, where an outturn below normal is expected.

Ajmer-Merwara (0·2 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The area sown is estimated at 30,000 acres, which is 52 per cent below the revised figure at this date last year. The yield is estimated at 14,000 bales, being the same as the revised figure at this date last year.

Hyderabad (14·7 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area is reported to be 2,331,000 acres, which is 31 per cent below the area reported at this date last year. The yield is estimated at 200,000 bales, which is 56 per cent below the corresponding estimate of last year. The season has been very unfavourable especially in the Mahrattwara districts comprising the best cotton growing areas of the State. The detailed district figures of area are as follows:—

	1918-19 acres	1917-18 acres
Aurangabad	209,925	417,829

Central India (6 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total yield is estimated at 133,000 bales on an area of 1,361,000 acres. These figures indicate a decrease of 24 per cent in yield and 9 per cent in area.

Baroda (3·2 per cent of the total area under cotton in India) reports 796,000 acres under cotton as compared with 827,000 acres at this date last year. The yield is estimated at 81,000 bales, which is 63 per cent below the estimate at this date last year.

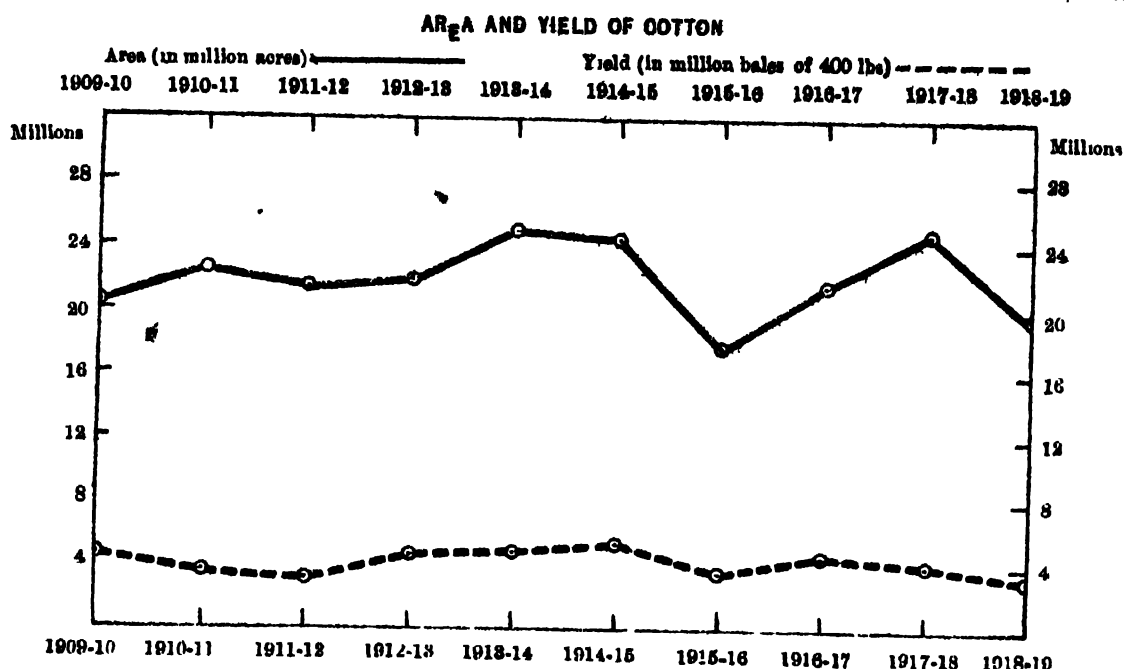

Rajputana (1·7 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area and yield are at present estimated at 292,000 acres and 61,000 bales, as compared with 432,000 acres (revised figure) and 85,000 bales at this date last year. The crop suffered from deficient rainfall in most of the States. The detailed figures of area for the States are as follows:—

	1918-19 acres	1917-18 acres
Bikaner	..	66
Jaisalmer
Marwar	28,898	37,008

Mysore (0·5 per cent of the total area under cotton in India) returns 93,000 acres, as compared with 150,000 acres, reported at this date last year. The yield is estimated at 26,000 bales, being 44 per cent above the yield at the corresponding date of last year. The area and yield according to the descriptions are:—

	Acres	Bales
Coompta-Dharwar	57,000	14,000
Salem (including Cambodias)	25,000	10,000
Other sorts	11,000	2,000

Chart.—The chart on next page shows the present estimates of area and yield for all India, as compared with the final figures of the preceding nine years. The curve for area represents millions of acres and that for yield million of bales.

Cotton crop in Foreign Countries —The latest information published by the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome, shows that in the United States of America the area cultivated with cotton in 1918 is 37,058,000 acres, as against 33,827,000 acres in the previous year. It appears from the Monthly Crop Report of the United States Department of Agriculture for September, 1918, that the crop is at present estimated at 11,137,000 bales (of 500 lbs each) on an area of 37,073,000 acres.

From the Bulletin of the Ministry of Agriculture,

Cairo, for November, 1918, it appears that in Egypt the weather generally was warmer than usual and beneficial to the late crop. Some damage was, however, caused to the unpicked cotton in parts of Lower Egypt by heavy rainstorm. Water supply was sufficient. The attack of the pink boll worm is still somewhat lighter in Lower Egypt than in past seasons. The second picking is approaching completion, except in the northern Delta, and has given disappointing results in certain tracts. The yield is generally below average, but the quality is comparatively good.
